Proclaim Act

Housing Loans Are Restricted By Shortages

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—(CP)—Announcing immediate availability of finance for construction of moderate and low cost houses and apartment houses under the new National Housing Act, Finance Minister Halsey last night told of temporary loan limits to conserve scarce labor and materials.

He warned that labor and materials were still scarce and that "the maximum benefits of the act cannot be realized until war-created shortages have disappeared."

The government was making available limited provisions so that home builders would be able to take advantage of lower interest rates and higher percentage loans made in the new act. Under the old act housing loan interest amounted to five per cent while under the new legislation the rate is 4½ per cent.

LENDING VALUE

Prospective home-builders now may borrow up to 95 per cent of the first $2,000 of lending value of a single dwelling, 85 per cent of the next $2,000 and 70 per cent of lending value in excess of $4,000.

To build a single dwelling with a lending value of $4,000, a borrower may obtain a maximum loan of $3,600. The monthly payments of interest and principal on the loan for this amount, payable over 20 years, would be $22.68, plus one-twelfth of municipal taxes.

Mr. Halsey said that veterans might use their re-establishment credits to provide two-thirds of the case equity required under the act. He added:

"To conserve scarce labor and materials and use them to best advantage in the provision of additional housing, a temporary maximum limit has been placed on the lending value of a home which may be financed under the act."

Extend Army Pay Tax Exemption

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—(CP)—Defence headquarters announced last night that the income-tax exemption on pay and allowances of overseas service personnel will be continued for six months after their return to Canada.

The order applies only to those from overseas units outside the western hemisphere. Six months is the maximum period of exemption allowed and if the period of service overseas is less than six months the period of exemption is reduced to the length of service.

The order does not apply to civilian income. Thus, a service member eligible for the exemption will receive it only if he is retained in the service for the period of exemption allowed, or for the portion of such period he is retained in the service.

Personnel on retirement or discharge to civilian status, irrespective of the length or theatre of service, become immediately liable for income tax.

It Says Here

by Bob Hope

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27.—I have to move and just for the fun of it, I went out and priced some real estate. I looked at one house and said, "Oh, Gee!" and between "Oh" and "Gee" the price went up a thousand dollars. Naturally, there aren't any apartments. W. C. Fields has a building. . . . But, of course, he's always full! Those real estate owners are making money hand over fist. That's because they charge the same kind of prices. . . . You have to hand over your fist. They charge for everything. I rang one doorbell. A lady answered. . . . I asked, "May I come in?" She said, "Sure. . . . That'll be three thousand dollars!"

It's awful the way some of those places are getting run down. An agent took me to see one house that had six rooms and a den. . . . And before we could get in, he had to chase the bears out of the den. Some smart guy put wheels under one house. . . . Hauled it from lot to lot and sold it six different times. That same house would have been sold six more times. . . . But I only had an "A" book.

295,000 Nazis Killed by Reds In Offensive

LONDON, Jan. 27.—(CP)—More than 295,000 Germans were killed on all eastern fronts by the Red Army in their offensive between Jan. 12 and 24, the Soviet information bureau announced last night in a special communique.

German prisoners taken totalled 86,330.

The bureau's announcement, broadcast by Moscow radio, listed these losses in material suffered by the Germans between Jan. 12 and Jan. 24:

Aircraft 592; tanks 2,995; guns, 7,932; mortars, 7,386; trucks, 34,019, and machine-guns, 20,019.

Fighting in Italy Limited by Rains

ROME, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Action along the Italian front was limited to patrolling again today as driving rains turned the deep snow to slush. Allied headquarters announced today.

During the last 24 hours there were only spasmodic patrol clashes reported in both the 5th Army sector south of Bologna and the British 8th Army front north of the Bologna-Rimini highway.

However, 8th Army troops, possibly the 1st Canadian Corps, have cleared the hamlet of San Antonio, on the Senio river west bank town of Fiumicino, 13 miles north and slightly east of Faenza.

Other 8th Army troops repelled German raids at other points along the Senio, including one foray east of the Fosso Vecchio, northeast of Alfonsine, which is in the Canadian-held sector and is on the Ravenna-Ferrara highway about nine miles northwest of Ravenna.

Order of Seizure Declared Illegal

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's order for army seizure of 16 Montgomery Ward and Company properties on Dec. 28 was declared illegal today by Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

"I am of the opinion that the president was without authority, either under Section 3 of the War Labor Disputes Act, or under the war powers conferred upon him by the constitution as commander-in-chief of the army and navy, to take possession of the plants and facilities of Montgomery Ward and Company," the court declared.

The decision in the case which the government said affected the United States' entire wartime labor dispute settlement machinery, dismissed the government petition for a judgment to uphold legality of the seizure and for an injunction to restrain Ward's officials from interfering with army operations.

Bracken Arrives Back in Canada

Russians Sure Offensive Is Knockout for Germans

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The Russian press today featured foreign reports of the evacuation of Berlin and apparently was confident that what was occurring on the eastern front was the knockout blow for Germany.

The recuperative ability of the German army never was more bitterly tested than at the present time, after two weeks of steady losses. By the same token, the Russians' ingenuity in quick establishment of supply and communications lines to cope with operations nearly 200 miles from their original bases has developed into the most difficult problem of the war.

Statement Issued

Alberta Co-Op. Movement Is Backed by Government

"The government of Alberta views with favor the growth and success of the co-operative movement in Alberta and it is our considered opinion that such growth as may be warranted and future success should be fostered and encouraged."

This was a statement of government policy filed with the Royal Commission inquiring into taxation of co-operatives by J. E. Brownlee, K.C., at the request of the provincial government. Mr. Brownlee said he was chairman of an advisory committee to the government on co-operatives, and he asked leave to comply with the government's request to file the document.

Granting leave Mr. Justice McDougall, chairman of the commission, expressed appreciation of interest taken by the government.

ENTIRELY SUCCESSFUL

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—(CP)—As a roundup of 6,300 absentee home defence troops continued, a defence headquarters spokesman today announced the strict enforcement of border crossing regulations making it mandatory for military personnel to carry papers issued by their commanding officers.

Forms, accounting for exported funds, will no longer be issued at border points to service personnel but must be obtained from commanding officers and bear their signature.

By-Election Will Definitely Be Held Declares Mulock

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Jan. 27.—(CP)—Postmaster General Mulock said today that there "definitely" will be a by-election in Grey North Feb. 5.

Col. Mulock, here to assist in the campaign of Defence Minister MacNaughton, the government's candidate, told newspapermen that they could quote him as saying that the by-election would be held. He said he wished to set at rest rumors that Prime Minister Mackenzie King would call off the by-election by dissolving parliament prior to Feb. 8.

Plan Dominion Vote Paper Reports By-Election To Be Called Off by King

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—(CP)—The Ottawa Journal said yesterday in a front page story that according to information by the "most reliable sources" the Grey North by-election Feb. 5 "is to be called off" and a general election called.

The paper continued:

"The contest will be wiped from the slate automatically by the process of Prime Minister Mackenzie King dissolving parliament and calling for a general election with polling most likely toward the end of March or during the first week of April."

PRACTICALLY FINAL

Mr. King's decision in the matter is understood to be practically final, with a change in it depending only on the remote possibility of a front page story in the Grey North (Monday) seeing the Progressive Conservative and CCF candidates withdrawing from the contest, giving Gen. MacNaughton an acclamation.

The paper said Mr. King visited Government House last Wednesday and was believed to have advised the governor-general of his intention with respect to an election.

Hopes to Keep Long-Service Men In Canada

KILSYTH, Ont., Jan. 27.—(CP)—Defence Minister MacNaughton said at a Grey North by-election campaign meeting here last night that "I hope to be able to keep the majority" of long service men being returned to Canada on leave from overseas in the Dominion.

The minister said the whole reinforcement situation is so favorable the government has been able to step up its program for the return of men on long-service leave.

Although the December quota was 450, 1,100 were returned. The January and February quotas were 1,000 each.

"We can't keep them all here because some are very necessary key men. I've told the doctors that under no circumstances will a man be allowed to return unless his health measures up to the requirements as set out. I am anxious to have these men help me train those who are to replace them."

Northeast U.S. Shivers in Cold

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The northwest United States looked into its collective coal bins today—and the blacker the bin, the lighter the snow.

Forecasters saw nothing immediately ahead but more cold weather as a coal shortage, brought on by a temporary embargo on non-war freight movements, closed schools in some sections and threatened to chill househairs and amusement places throughout the area east and south of the Great Lakes.

Local officials acted promptly as the solid fuels administration ordered close controls over home coal deliveries and urged curtailment or elimination of the use of solid fuels in places of amusement.

In New York City, Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia announced that fuel depots would be established.

Sask. Government Will Not Accept Halsey's Demand

REGINA, Jan. 27.—(CP)—Provincial Treasurer Fines said in an interview today that the provincial government will not accept demand for settlement of the $16,468,852 seed grain advances debt by federal Finance Minister Halsey as set forth in a letter received Thursday.

Mr. Fines said the cabinet would finally approve a reply to Mr. Halsey early next week. It was understood that some proposals from the province for settlement would be contained in this letter.

Mr. Halsey in his letter received by the provincial government Thursday, said it must meet his suggestions for settlement of the debt by Jan. 31, or the Dominion will take whatever steps were deemed advisable to collect.

Reds Knock Out Vital Industries

LONDON, Jan. 27.—(CP)—The Germans admitted today that the Red Army had knocked out Hitler's war-vital industries in rich upper Silesia and had lunged up to the Obra river 97 miles from Berlin.

"But to the very last moment," said a broadcast of Transocean Agency, "the mines, blast furnaces and steel workers kept going. The workers stayed at their benches but finally the terminal station of the railway line was moved back. New arrangements were made for the distribution of works and workers and the population of the area was evacuated to the rear."

"In those areas of the industrial region of upper Silesia where German soldiers were unable to save it from the grip of a superior enemy, installations were blown up. Volksturm battalions now are fighting at the side of the Grenadiers in the midst of ruined factory buildings and coal dumps."

Evacuation of the industrial basin would mean that Hitler gave up the German army's second greatest pre-war arsenal, which, since the mass bombings of the Ruhr, has been of increasing importance.

Earlier German broadcasts called on the home front to show neither "illusions or panic."

GREAT ARSENAL LOST

German war industries in upper Silesia—roughly the area between Oppeln and the Sudeten mountains—have been shut down, the Transocean agency said. The broadcast added that workers and the population of the area were evacuated somewhere to the rear with the fate of "the industrial fortress of upper Silesia handed over to the soldiers of the east front."

The announcement meant that Hitler had lost the industrial power of one of Germany's greatest arsenals, increasingly vital to the Germans since the mass bombings of the Ruhr in the west.

The German high command said Russian spearheads were halted in front of German positions on the Obra. This river runs 75 to 95 miles east of Berlin and bulges eastward to form part of the border of Brandenburg, province in which Berlin is situated.

MORE VICTORIES

DNB, German agency, said Russian tanks were stopped at Bentschen (Zbyszyn), astride a main route from Poznan to Berlin, the town is 97 miles from the capital.

Still more crushing victories were announced in the north. Marshal Stalin proclaimed that the permanent defence system in the Masurian lakes region of East Prussia was smashed.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—(BUP)—The German high command acknowledged today that the Red Army had broken into Brandenburg province, of which Berlin is the capital, and that in another sector the Russians had hit the Obra river line which angles back within 75 miles of the capital.

A Berlin communique reporting Russian gains from end to end of the shifting eastern front indicated that Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's army virtually had

New Amphibious Landing in Burma

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

KANDY, Ceylon, Jan. 27.—(BUP)—British forces in the fifth amphibious hop on the Burma coast in "two weeks, landed on Cheduba Island, 110 miles southeast of Akkayab."

The landing brought their lines within less than 200 miles from the southern tip of Burma, a southeast Asia communique announcing the move said today.

Cheduba lies off the southwest end of Ramree island, which was invaded only early this week by British Commandos. The southern tip of Cheduba is due west of the coastal town of Taungtha, southern terminus of the Myingung-Taungtha highway, the last remaining escape for thousands of Japanese concentrated in the Kaladan valley.

Although the communique gave no further reports on the Kangaw ground fighting, it disclosed that RAF and RCAF medium and fighter bombers in strength yesterday bombed and strafed Japanese positions and hill areas near Kangaw and at other Arakan points.

Liquor Baron's Body Is Found In Snowdrift

TORONTO, Jan. 27.—(CP)—Bullet pierced, battered and frozen, the body of Louis Wernick, alleged head of a Montreal-Toronto liquor syndicate, was recovered late yesterday from a deep snowdrift on a street in suburban Etobicoke.

The body was found by a snow-plow crew cleaning out the street for the first time since a heavy storm several weeks ago.

Wernick, police said, had been shot twice. One bullet pierced his head.

$7,000 SAID FOUND

He had been manhandled and his pockets turned inside out. He was believed to have had $30,000 on his person when last seen, Jan. 15, and it was reported $7,000 was found in his clothes.

A stocky man of 39, Wernick was a one-time partner of Rocco Perri in the days when the Italian from Hamilton, Ont., styled himself "King of the bootleggers."

Perri has been missing since April 23, 1944, after he left his Hamilton home to return to Toronto.

Halsey to Consult Alberta on Act

By CHESTER BLOOM

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—In announcing yesterday that the provisions of the National Housing Act 1944, are now available to finance the construction of moderate and lower cost houses and apartment blocks, Hon. J. L. Halsey, minister of finance, made special reference to the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan where Social Credit and CCF governments respectively, control the situation.

Mr. Halsey said that he had received enquiries whether the act would operate in those two provinces. He hoped that any difficulties standing in the way of nationwide operation could be overcome.

"The government of Canada," said Mr. Halsey, "is most anxious that all parts of Canada and all Canadians whether living in cities, towns or villages, or on farms should be in a position to enjoy the benefits of the National Housing Act."

"The Canadian parliament, in last summer's revision of the act, went as far as it could to assure this result. However, if there should be provincial legislation of such a character as seriously to affect the rights of mortgages this might prevent prospective home-builders from getting loans under the housing act; it must be remembered that these are joint loans, private companies putting up 75 per cent and sharing the ultimate risk of loss. I intend shortly to invite representatives of the Saskatchewan and Alberta governments to come to Ottawa to discuss what steps these governments might take to enable the act to operate within their borders."

disappears and adverse business conditions only by dint of extremely careful management and the staunch loyalty of their members. Many have flourished but others have been quite unable to operate without increasing capital indebtednesses during a period of many years. The satisfactory status of government guarantees to various co-operative enterprises reflects the general progress of co-operatives in Alberta fairly well if it is borne in mind that many, during the war and due to increased productive demands, have prospered somewhat more than they might have done otherwise," the statement reads.

The history of the Alberta Wheat Pool is indicative of this progress. In 1931 guarantees totalling $5,549,000 were made in return for debentures. The payments have been met every year and at the end of the last fiscal year the amount outstanding was $3,964,000.

"The dairy pools have had a similar experience although their position has not always been easy. In 1929, five such associations were guaranteed a total of $414,560, and since that time further guarantees of $40,000 have been made but at the end of the fiscal year, March 31, 1944, the balance was $38,673. Further loans totalling $330,000 are pending to enable two of these pools to make certain plant extensions.

$223,000 ADVANCED

"In connection with the co-operative poultry marketing effort, the government advanced $223,000 in loans for plant purchases and a balance of $180,000 is due but, through this government assistance, more than 30,000 Alberta poultrymen have been able to greatly increase their shipping facilities especially as they pertain to exports to Great Britain under war conditions.

"A recent and outstanding example of this government's desire and policy to co-operate with other governments in the further development of the co-operative movement is to be found in our participation with the governments of Saskatchewan and Manitoba in assisting financially with the establishment of Canadian Co-operative Implements Limited. Alberta will share equally with the other prairie provinces and will advance approximately $83,000.

"The government has also given considerable assistance to the development of the Credit Union movement and, in fact, maintain a staff of well-trained organizers to encourage the organization of new unions and keep those already organized efficiently active," the statement said.

of two bedrooms the upper limit is $6,000, increasing to $7,000 for a house with three bedrooms and to $8,000 for a house with four or more bedrooms. A similar type of limitation has been placed on the lending value of apartment houses financed under the act. The intention is to raise these maximum limits when and as materials and labor become more abundant.

Part IV of the National Housing Act relating to home improvement and home extension loans is not being proclaimed for the time being, supplies of labor and materials which are available can be used to better advantage in the provision of additional housing than in the repair and modernization of existing houses. He concluded.

"In bringing the Housing Act into effect, the government also clears the way for the construction of low rental housing projects by limited dividend companies, financed to the extent of 90 per cent by the Dominion government, for direct investment by life insurance companies in low cost or moderate cost rental housing projects for grants by the Dominion to the municipalities to assist in slum clearance and for special research projects and community planning.

"In the main, these are post-war projects, their promotion and timing being primary responsibility of the minister of reconstruction."

The statement was issued in reply to newspaper queries on the situation in this district following disclosure a few days ago of wholesale absenteeism among overseas-bound NRMA troops.

Reds Destroy Nazis' Silesian War Industry

cleaned out the Poznan province bulge of Western Poland except for the enveloped city of Poznan, and now was storming the German border defences on a broad arc.

Zhuikov's right wing admittedly had burst into Brandenburg and was attacking Schneidemuhl, 90 miles southeast of Stettin. To the south, the Nazi command said, his vanguard on the shortest road to Berlin had reached the Odra somewhere in the border area.

ODER BRIDGEHEADS

Berlin also admitted officially that the Red Army had established several bridgeheads across the Oder river in Silesia. Ernst von Hammer, in a supplementary report, disclosed that the Germans had lost Krappitz, just west of the Oder and 14 miles south of Oppeln, by claiming that they had recaptured it.

A Moscow dispatch said Zhukov's drive west of Poznan had been slowed by strong opposition, and it appeared that the German command had decided to undertake its main stand in that sector nearest to Berlin.

Berlin said the First White Russian Army had reached the German-Polish border both northwest and southwest of enveloped and beleaguered Poznan, 45 miles east of the upper Oder, a tributary which flows into the Warthe at Schwerin, 78 miles east of Berlin.

VANGUARDS "CHECKED"

"Zhukov's tank vanguards have been checked on the River Oder 45 miles west of Poznan," a Berlin broadcast said. That is the river's nearest point to Poznan, and it elbows sharply westward with no other natural barrier short of Schwerin.

A few miles to the northeast, other Russian forces were reported by Berlin to have crossed to the north bank of the Netze river east of Schneidemuhl, 50 miles north of Poznan and 90 miles southeast of Stettin.

The Transocean News Agency said the First Ukrainian Army in Silesia apparently was trying to envelop Breslau, and was trying to cross the Oder on a broad front northwest of the city.

CALL FOR REVOLT

A Moscow broadcast said the entire Eastern front from the Carpathians to the Baltic had collapsed, laying open the Reich to "the Red Army." It called on the Germans to rise up against Adolf Hitler.

The Oder River, Germany's primary defence line in the East, has been crossed at "several points" and communications cut between the industrial area of Upper Silesia and the rest of the Reich, the Moscow broadcast said.

The broadcast came as the Soviets sealed off all East Prussia and its garrison of 200,000 Nazi troops with a breakthrough to the Baltic stormed the last defences of Konigsberg, Danzig, Breslau and Poznan, and pushed to within an official 138 and an unconfirmed 93 miles of Berlin.

FALL MAY BE NEAR

The Breslau, Danzig and Konigsberg radios went off the air, indicating that the fall of those fortress cities may be imminent.

The official German DNB agency said Berlin was looking "with tension" towards the east, where Soviet tank spearheads have approached the border of Brandenburg province, 90-odd miles from the capital.

"There are no signs of panic, but people's faces are very serious and conversations center on the war situation," DNB said. "One newspaper described the situation in these words: 'Hard days and nights of the greatest threat demand the utmost and strongest nerves. Pathetic slogans are like false money in such a fatal hour.'"

German broadcasts said the Soviets were approaching the frontier of Brandenburg—Berlin's province—in the vicinity of Schneidemuhl, Driesen and Beutchen, the latter two only 93 miles east of the Nazi capital.

The Soviet high command's midnight communiqué, however, said the closest Russian column to Berlin was at Mosina, 136 miles east of the capital and nine miles southwest of the besieged Polish fortress city of Poznan. Mosina was captured yesterday, outflanking Poznan from the south while other forces attacked frontally.

RCMP Confirm Liberty Ship's Cargo Looted

HALIFAX, Jan. 27.—(CP)—Inspector D. A. MacKinnon of the RCMP customs preventive service yesterday confirmed reports of looting of the $2,500,000 cargo of the United States liberty ship which ran aground recently near Lobster Claw Ledge outside Halifax harbor. He said about 20 private automobiles containing goods from the wrecks have been stopped by constables on roads leading into Halifax during the last four days. No arrests have yet been made, the inspector said, but the investigation is continuing. The goods seized comprised food and tobacco.

mans now were engaged in a large-scale withdrawal before the combined blows of the American Third, Fifth and Ninth Armies and the British Second Army, which were wheeling into positions from which they could resume the Allied offensive interrupted on Dec. 16 by the German counter-drive.

PICTURE BRIGHT

The overall picture of the western front was brighter than it had been since the pre-Christmas onslaught by the Germans. The initiative was reported in Allied hands everywhere, including northern Alaska where a threatening Nazi offensive against U.S. Seventh Army had been broken north of Strabourg.

Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's U.S. Ninth Army and Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's British Second Army were massing on a broad front along the Roer river on springboards for thrusts toward the Rhineland and the Ruhr.

Allied planes were taking advantage of every break in the weather to hammer large-scale German movements by train and truck from large sections of the western front. Supreme headquarters described train traffic northward from the front as "heavy" and said 31 locomotives and 150 rail cars were destroyed or damaged yesterday alone.

STRIKE EVERYWHERE

Planes of the RAF Second Tactical Air Force, cracking down on enemy rail traffic moving east from the Siegfried line yesterday flew more than half the distance to Berlin, despite bad weather.

The total bag for the Tempests, rocket-firing Typhoons and Spitfires was 31 locomotives and 154 cars destroyed or damaged.

The Third Army's first thrust to the Our northeast of Clerveaux was made by patrols of the 90th Division, which were peppered with small arms fire from the forefield of the Siegfried line across the river.

Other Third Army troops captured Butzdorf, 14 miles southeast of Luxembourg, and entered Seltzer, eight miles east of Wiltz. In a mile gain northward they reached a key road junction on the "skyline drive" in the Geresch area seven miles northeast of Wiltz.

Troops of the 60th Division advanced a mile and a half in the area of Hosingen, eight miles north of Wiltz, and were within a little more than a mile of the German border.

Wernick had not been at home since Jan. 15 and the very similarity between the two instances indicated liquor-gang warfare.

Associates of the dead man told police he had expressed fear of "a gang."

There were blobs of blood on the ice and snow around the body. But it could not be told from this definitely whether Wernick met death at the intersection of Kipling street and Evans avenue, where the body was found, or whether his body had been taken there and dumped into the snow to freeze.

Two men operating the Etobicoke township bulldozer made the gruesome discovery.

The bulldozer operators said the body was badly frozen and blood spattered when they scooped it out of the snow. Wernick's face was battered as if by repeated blows.

Police were attempting to determine whether the $7,000 found in his clothes had been overlooked by the murderer or murderers while robbing Wernick of a larger amount, or whether they had been motivated by revenge and not profit.

Police said they had begun an immediate roundup of men known to be connected with liquor bootlegging in Toronto. They added that the search may extend to Montreal, where Wernick was known to have had connections.

The name of Rocco Perri was brought up at a liquor hijacking trial in Toronto last October. Donald (Mickey) MacDonald, and four associates who had stolen a $35,000 liquor load and kidnapped the truck driver received penitentiary sentences.

Sam Mancuso, one of MacDonald's associates, had named a "Mister X" as the man who was to receive the liquor load, but would not disclose his real name, saying, "I didn't want to get a bullet in me."

MacDonald later testified that the mysterious "Mister X" was Rocco Perri.

The Russian-born Wernick and Perri were partners in a rum-running syndicate in the late 1930's. Perri, a one-time laborer who worked on the Welland Canal project, survived numerous attempts on his life.

When he disappeared on April 23, 1944, his family feared he had become the victim of foul play. Royal Canadian Mounted Police officials who said Perri was due to make a report to them, concurred in that belief. They stated he would have risked anything to get to the RCMP and report on time rather than face internment.

In 1924 Hamilton police shot and killed a Welland gunman who was alleged to have been "trigger-man" of a gang that had come to slay or rob the dapper Italian. Police surprised the gang at the rear of Perri's house.

What police thought was a second attempt on the bootlegger's life was made in August, 1930, and resulted in the death of his wife, Bessie.

The murder of Bessie Perri, one of the most perplexing in police annals, has not been solved. A barrage from two double-barreled shotguns was played on the door through which the Perri were to have entered the house.

Revolver bullets were discovered embedded in the wood in the line of fire. Both shotguns were found nearby. Perri offered a $5,000 reward for apprehension of the slayers and the City of Hamilton added $1,000.

In March of 1938, Perri's Hamilton home was dynamited, but he was not home, and in November of that year, his car blew up when he stepped on the starter. He escaped with minor burns.

He was arrested in August, 1939, on a charge of conspiracy of smuggling alcohol into Canada. Together with his associates and a number of customs officials, he was acquitted by a supreme court jury.

Churchill Pleased That New House Won't Be Large

LONDON, Jan. 27.—(CP)—Prime minister Churchill declared himself extremely gratified Friday that plans for rebuilding the bomb-wrecked House of Commons were based upon the principal that "there should not be room" for all its 615 members.

He drew laughter from the Commons members by saying that too few seats would preserve the intimacy and "that sense of urgency and excitement to which our parliamentary proceedings have owed a great deal in the past."

The House has been sitting for more than three years in the crowded House of Lords chamber.

Border Regulations

FORT ERIE, Ont., Jan. 27.—(CP)—Customs excise officials here said yesterday they have received instructions that all forms "H" for members of the armed forces crossing the border must be issued by the officer commanding the camp to which he or she is attached. Form "H", accounting for the money or funds exported will no longer be issued here, they said.

Night-Striking Mosquitos "Take Over" Berlin Raids

By FRED BACKHOUSE
A BOMBER COMMAND MOSQUITO STATION, England, Jan. 27.—(CP)—The Canadian Flight Lieutenant grined and said sometimes flak over "the big city" was so thick that even the kids in the streets seemed to be throwing stones.

That, he admitted, was "awful line"—a considerable exaggeration—but it gave you some idea. "The big city," as the boys call it here, is Berlin. The German capital that rarely gets into the air war headlines nowadays is a routine priority target for the compact Mosquito outfit known as the light night striking force.

Squadrons of these fastest bombers in the world are raising a particular kind of hell in Germany from nearly six miles up, so effectively and regularly that the heavies have not had to visit Berlin for more than a year.

In fact, the light night strikers operate with a heavyweight punch in the soupiest sort of weather which keeps Halifaxes and Lancasters grounded.

So secret are the tactics and instruments that have baffled the Germans that no flier of this outfit may be named. Usually night forays by the LNSF get only honorable mention in the daily air ministry communiqué—"Mosquitos were over Berlin and the Ruhr."

Bus Overturns

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Jan. 27.—(CP)—Two persons are in hospital and six others suffered minor injuries when a Vancouver-bound bus overturned in a ditch yesterday after skidding 150 feet down steep Livingstone hill on the Pacific highway between Cloverdale and Fry's Corners. There were 30 passengers on the bus at the time of the accident.

Paper Reports Vote Is "Off" In Grey North

night that he asked for no consideration from opposition candidates in the contest and if they felt they should oppose him "we'll stand up and have our election."

Gen. McNaughton told a political rally in this town, 10 miles east of Owen Sound, that he would carry on his campaign as long as his defence department work permitted but that work would be put ahead of all else.

He said the reinforcement pools overseas were "some thousands" ahead of the figures originally set.

PLANS MORE LEAVES

He hoped to increase the number of long service men returning home on leave. About 1,150 men had come back on leave in December. About 1,000 would come back in both January and February. Not all these men would remain in Canada as some were essential men and were needed overseas.

No man would be sent back unless he was up to high physical standards. Instructions had been issued that medical authorities were not to relax physical standards at all.

He believed that the reinforcement crisis had been disposed of, and that the defence department now could turn to other matters.

The sending of home defence troops overseas had beaten the short-term emergency need for reinforcements. Volunteering was running at the rate of 2,000 a week and it was considered that these men would fill later reinforcement needs.

SUPPORT EXPECTED

One would have thought that controversy over the reinforcement question would have ceased after Prime Minister Mackenzie King appealed last Nov. 8 that the public join in encouraging home defence troops to volunteer, said Gen. McNaughton.

Even after the government had been given a vote of confidence at the special session the controversy continued.

"There are political forces that are trying to make capital out of the difficulties of our country and I think it is a shameful thing," said Gen. McNaughton.

In recent weeks some newspapers had claimed the necessary rein-formations were not reaching overseas. This was "unfounded propaganda" but he could say nothing about it at the time because a large draft of reinforcements was on the high seas.

Some people might think that the submarine was no longer a menace, but the submarines were still very dangerous and active things to contend with in dispatching men overseas.

TLC NOT BACKING CCF CANDIDATE

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—(CP)—J. A. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, yesterday issued the following statement in connection with the Grey North by-election Feb. 5:

I have been asked if it is true that the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada is supporting Mr. Godfrey, Air Vice-Marshal A. Earl Godfrey, CCF candidate in the Grey North by-election.

EMPHATICALLY NO

To clear up any misunderstanding the answer is emphatically no. Our congress voted at its last convention to set up a Political Action Committee but refused to attach itself to any political party. It is, therefore, impossible for our congress, which puts the winning of the war above every other consideration, to join in any partisan move.

Our attitude in this crucial stage of the struggle against Fascism is best seen on our re-affirmation of the no-strike pledge at our last convention.

We can only hope that the people of Grey North will put victory first and relegate party politics to a secondary position.

KING AND COLDWELL "STRANGE BEDFELLOWS"

CHATWORTH, Ont., Jan. 27.—(CP)—Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Grey North by-election Feb. 5, said last night that Prime Minister Mackenzie King and M. J. Coldwell, leader of the CCF party, were "strange bedfellows indeed."

Mr. Case said that Mr. Coldwell had stated in a press interview Thursday that there was no collusion between the government and the CCF party. "But Mr. Coldwell also said that the Liberal party had exerted pressure on him to keep his party candidate out of the by-election."

"That indicates that he was approached and that a deal was made," said Mr. Case. "Mr. King hoped that the CCF and Progressive Conservative candidates would split the anti-government vote. They are not going to because Liberals who are real Liberals have told me that they are going to vote for me."

SURE OF VICTORY

"Unless Mr. King carries out his threat to call off the by-election and hold a general election, I feel confident that I will be elected to carry

No Action Taken To Appoint Sask. Lieut. - Governor

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—No action has been taken to appoint a new lieutenant-governor for Saskatchewan, according to a privy council spokesman here today, for the good reason that Lieutenant-Governor McNabb has not yet officially resigned. It has been known for some time that Mr. McNabb feels he has served long enough in the post and desires to retire, but no resignation has been accepted or even submitted. Rumor has coupled the names of Cyril Malone, Cameron McIntosh and Tom Miller of possible successors to Lieutenant-Governor McNabb, but which, if any, has the edge of government approval is a cabinet secret.

Former President Of Press Gallery Dies at Ottawa

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—(CP)—Edgar C. Buchanan, 55, a former president of the parliamentary press gallery and later publisher of a business information publication known as "Buchanan's Bulletin," died suddenly at his home here yesterday. Mr. Buchanan was a member of the editorial staff of the Ottawa Journal for many years and served as president of the press gallery in 1931. He later went to the Border Cities Star, now the Windsor (Ont.) Star, and then left that paper to publish his business bulletin.

a message from the people to parliament."

Mr. Case said that he would urge that the government adopt a policy of total mobilization to replace the present "piece-meal and half-hearted" manpower policy. He had always favored a policy of total mobilization of resources through national selective services.

He believed in the total mobilization of resources, but not in the conscription of manpower and wealth as suggested by the CCF candidate, Air Marshal A. E. Godfrey, retired RCAF officer.

The CCF believed that the people should be subject to the state and the Progressive Conservative party believe that the state should carry out the will of the people."

SAYS POLICIES ENDORSED IF GOVERNMENT WINS

MEAFORD, Ont., Jan. 27.—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said last night that the government would look upon a victory in Grey North by-election Feb. 5 as an endorsement of their entire record and policies regarding labor, agriculture, rehabilitation, reconstruction, as well as their various war and international policies."

In an address prepared for delivery at a political rally here, Mr. Coldwell said that in an address in Owen Sound Thursday night he had denounced those who raised racial and religious issues.

"Even as I spoke the Tory candidate (Garfield Case) was attacking an outstanding young Canadian, David Lewis, as a Russian Jewish refugee," said Mr. Coldwell. "Mr. Case charged that Mr. Lewis, our national secretary, was working through the CCF to set up Russian communism in Canada."

NO COMMUNIST PLAN

"Well, if Mr. Lewis were a Russian refugee he would not be working to establish Russian communism in Canada nor would the Communist party be supporting Gen. McNaughton and the Liberals."

"David Lewis is the son of a Polish-Canadian worker, a graduate of McGill university, a Rhodes scholar and thus a graduate of Oxford university who, when he was there in 1932, was the first Canadian ever to be honored with election to the presidency of the Oxford Union."

"The Tory party, if it has any vestige of decency, should repudiate this disgraceful attempt to use religious prejudice against a brilliant young Canadian."

Mr. Coldwell spoke after Air Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, the CCF candidate, outlined his party's program.

Air Marshal Godfrey said the CCF was not a group of "fanatics who want to socialize everything just because some theory says they should."

SENSIBLE PEOPLE

"They are sensible men and women who have seen that private monopolies are gaining a stranglehold on our economic system."

"They have decided that the only way to get rid of this menace is to buy out the monopolies at a fair price to the shareholders and operate them in the interest of the public."

A Letter from Home!

Every morning at eight-thirty sharp—so sharp that you can almost set your watch by its departure—the RCAF "sked run" leaves Edmonton for Whitehorse, Y.T., 1,100 miles to the north, and equally promptly every morning at seven-thirty, Yukon time, another aircraft of the sked run leaves Whitehorse for Edmonton. The sked run is operated by an RCAF heavy transport squadron attached to North West Air Command. Many of the pilots operating on the line have returned from operations overseas.

Regulations forbid individuals sending newspapers overseas. The Edmonton Bulletin prints the news of the week in letter form. Clip it out and send it to your loved ones and friends.

Dear

Activity has been widespread on both battle and home fronts during the last week. We have been directly engaged in events here, and have followed happenings on both the Western and Eastern Fronts of Europe with intense, unwavering interest.

Here the week has been charged with important events. The Alberta Farmers' Union third annual convention at the Masonic Temple drew 637 delegates, the largest registration of any convention in recent years, and the agenda, originally scheduled to last for three days, was extended by one day. The deliberations were crowned with success and delegates voted the event as a whole, an unqualified success.

The Labor Progressive Party is having a two-day gathering at the week-end. Zasu Pitta, noted stage and screen star, was here with her travelling company for four days, and Ricardo Odnoposoff, noted violinist, played a Celebrity Series concert. Several churches held their annual meetings, and submitted reports on the year's activities. There were numerous other events.

One of Canada's most distinguished soldiers and public men, Maj.-Gen. Hon. W. A. Griesbach, CB, CMG, DSO, VD, died suddenly late Sunday afternoon at his home, 12906 162 avenue, from a heart seizure. He was 67 years old. He served in the South African War from 1899 to 1901, and volunteered at the outbreak of the Great War of 1914-1918, going overseas with the 19th Alberta Dragoons special service squadron. He was recalled in December, 1914, to recruit and command the 49th Battalion, and was promoted to lieutenant-colonel. He commanded the 49th until February, 1917, when he was appointed brigadier and given command of the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade. He was promoted to be a major-general in 1921. Elected to the House of Commons in 1917, he was called to the Senate in 1921. In 1940 he was appointed inspector-general of the Canadian Army in Western Canada, a post he held until he retired in 1942.

Heroic Canadian servicemen who received wounds fighting freedom's battles in two great wars soon will be hospitalized in one of the Dominion's most magnificent and most complete military hospitals. The hospital will be known as the Colonel Mewburn Pavilion of the University Hospital, 112 street and 8th avenue. The splendid new three-story brick and steel structure, fire-proofed throughout, will have a minimum capacity of 250 beds. Its cost will be in excess of $500,000, exclusive of elaborate equipment, and furnishings of the latest type.

A fighting pack of puck-chasers from the South Side gave the league-leading Canadians a real battle in Saturday night's junior hockey clash at the Arena, but their untiring efforts couldn't hold down a last period outburst by the unbeaten Canucks, and they dropped a thrilling contest 6-3 before a large crowd.

The first speaker's chair used in the legislature of the North West Territories, with seat of government at Regina, has come to this city, the gift of Mrs. H. C. Wilson, widow of the first speaker of the assembly.

January 23

Cost of affiliation of the Alberta Farmers' Union with a recognized Canadian labor organization at present is "prohibitive" according to a report of the board of directors submitted at the opening session of the third annual AFU convention at the Masonic Temple. It was reported that in the last year, directors have approached labor organizations with a view to affiliation, in accordance with a resolution passed at the last annual convention.

Two real estate transactions were approved by the city council, at a regular meeting. One involved the sale of the Chisholm block, Jasper avenue and 104 street, to a group of tenants, and the other was the purchase by the city of the Qu'Appelle building, 100 street, just across the street from the court house, as part of the projected civic centre. Sale price of the Chisholm block was $75,000, and the Qu'Appelle building transaction involved $50,000.

There is no doubt of the ultimate victory of the Allied armies and there is hope that the war in Europe will end this year with the unconditional surrender of Germany, according to Stephen L. Holmes, Ottawa, deputy high commissioner for the United Kingdom. He was a city visitor in the course of a tour of Western Canada.

Great Falls, U.S. Clippers, Nainoa Air Base and Alaskan Division Headquarters all survived the first round of the southern section play-off of the Alaskan Division basketball tournament at Northwest Air Command Drill hall. Division cagers eliminated officers in the first round of the knockout tournament 47-29 in the initial game, while Nainoa won 40-32 from Yanks in the second; Great Falls beat Seattle 48-14 in the third, and Clippers turned back Calgary 35-24.

A rough display of basketball was staged in the second half of the City Basketball League's twin bill at Garneau school gym, but for Victoria High School's band of hoopers it turned out favorably, as they won 46-18 from the YMCA club. In the curtain-raised Dunn's Tailors turned down the Forty-Niners fifth bid for a victory. Dunn's came out on top 44-32. The idle University cagers remained undisturbed at the top of the heap with four wins and one loss.

Two Edmonton youths compelled to bring to a halt the car in which they were riding when a police patrol car forced it to the curb about 3:40 a.m., were arrested on four charges of breaking and entering and one of theft of an auto. They are being held at the South Side police station pending completion of police investigations.

Revenue of the city telephone department, less discounts and bad debts for the year 1944 amounted to $867,888, compared with $826,297.29 in 1943, an increase of $41,590.71, according to an interim statement by Robert Christie, system superintendent. Expenditures in 1944 amounted to $278,462 compared to $261,974.52 in 1943, an increase of $16,487.38, thus leaving a surplus on operation of $595,425.77 for 1944 compared with $364,322.65 for the previous year.

Power production for city use at Edmonton's power plant for the period Jan. 1 to Jan. 21 of this year, amounted to 7,578,300 kilowatt hours compared with 7,321,600 for the same period last year, according to R. G. Watson, power superintendent.

Five years ago—Jan. 24, 1940—one of this city's two artillery units in the field, the 61st Field Battery, RCA, left for overseas. Since that time the unit has seen much service and has made a valuable contribution to the Allied progress overseas.

F. Armour Ford, KC, who as a major commanded the 61st Battery here and overseas, and who was promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel while on foreign service, has returned here and resumed his law practice.

Two Edmonton teams, Nainoa Air Base, and U.S. Clippers, survived the second round of the Alaskan Division semi-final tournament, and advanced into the final at Northwest Air Command Drill hall.

Jack Forsyth's soft goal with just over a minute to go in the final period gave Red Deer Army Wheelers a 4-4 tie with Edmonton RCAF Flyers in a scheduled Northern Alberta Services Hockey League fixture at the Arena. It was the third successive tie contest played by these two clubs.

January 25

James Jackson, Irma, was re-elected president of the Alberta Farmers' Union at the annual convention now in progress at the Masonic Temple. Vice-presidents elected were, first, Henry Young, William Hawerlik, Wase, second, Henry Young, Miller, third, Christine McGowan, Harry Hill, fourth, L. E. Pharis, Magrath. The convention, by resolution, went on record as favoring legislation permitting collection of farm organization membership fees by municipal district secretary-treasurers. In accordance with this the convention passed a resolution calling on the Provincial government to enact the necessary measure.

Accurate shooting John Galvin counted 16 points at the Northwest Air Command Drill hall to pace U.S. Clippers to a 35-30 win over Nainoa Air Base in the final of the southern section of the Alaskan Division basketball tournament. Clippers, coached by Capt. Ray Arjo, will represent this section of the division tourney to be held at Fairbanks, Alaska, the first three days in February. The team will play a round robin with Fairbanks and Whitehorse, and the winner will go to the United States as the Alaskan Division representative in the Air Transport Command tournament.

Canadians out-scored Edmonton Athletic Club in every period and had fairly easy going in taking the pay-off end of a 12-6 count in a Junior Hockey League contest at the Arena. It was the eighth successive win for Canadians.

Liberals in the Edmonton West Dominion constituency will hold a nominating convention at the Masonic Temple at 8 p.m. Feb. 23, to select a candidate to contest the next Dominion general election. The sitting member for the constituency is Han, James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, who is expected to be here for the event.

January 26

Covering 21 points ranging from political activities to old age pensions, an action program previously endorsed by the United Farmers of Canada, (Saskatchewan Section) Thursday afternoon received unanimous endorsement at the Alberta Farmers' Union convention at the Masonic Temple. George Bevington, Winterburn, introduced the program and said that today things are "deplorably unorganized."

Eric A. Russell, district storekeeper at the CNR yards, Calder, for the last nine years, has been appointed to a similar post for the Manitoba division at Transcona, effective Feb. 1.

Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect, has been elected president of the Alberta Association of Architects, in succession to John Martland, who held the post for six years.

January 27

The annual general meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada, Edmonton Branch, will be held at the club rooms on Sunday.

The Labor Progressive party is holding a two-day convention commencing today. Tim Buck, national leader, will be here, as will John Goss, British-Canadian leader.

The weather for the week-end appears as though it would be unsettled, with some snow a likelihood.

That's all for now.
Best of everything until next week.

More Cars Coming

Manufacturers of automobiles say that when the war is over in each ten families in Canada will buy a new motor car.
If that is a good estimate, and nobody is better situated to know, there are going to be "rafts" of new cars on the streets and highways besides those which merely replace cars now in use or standing in garages because gas and tires are scarce. It implies that many thousands who have never had cars will buy cars, and a heavy increase in the total number running about in every community.

Edmonton, even under wartime restrictions as to fuel and tires and overall speed limit, has been far from free of traffic accidents, a considerable proportion of which have caused deaths. This city is no exception, nor has its record been worse than others.

The inference is pretty direct that the after-war flood of extra cars will require a corresponding increase of caution on the part of drivers—and a revision of traffic laws and regulations to meet the new situation. It is not too early for the authorities of so fast growing a city as Edmonton to start thinking about the extra stop-lights, new parking rules, and bylaw amendments which will be needed to keep the streets safe, even as safe as they now are.

Now for the "Intuitions"

It can be no more now than a surmise,
but it will not be surprising if the Russians call a halt one of these days on a good holding line somewhere along the German-Polish border, while the Allies
open a general offensive in the west. Military observers are expressing doubts that the Red armies can continue to roll Berlinwards without stopping to extend and perfect the vast communications and transport system upon which they have to depend for supplies. They suggest also that enemy resistance must be expected to stiffen
as the troops shuffled across country from the Siegfried line get into action in the east.

This sounds reasonable, though it must not be forgotten that the Russians have amazed the world several times by pushing offensives faster and farther than it was supposed possible to extend communication lines and keep delivering adequate quantities of munitions at the fighting front. They might do that again. They may intend to make the defences around Berlin their next stopping place.

The point is that the initiative rests
with Marshal Stalin and General Eisenhower, who have "established contact," it is officially stated. In broad language this means that they intend to hit the enemy on whichever side, and where, when and how, in their pooled judgment the blows will tell most decisively. Guessing as to which, where, when and how is Hitler's job.

Starving the Dutch

If any person in Canada, or in any other country never subjected to Hitler rule, feels like complaining about the "hardships" of rationing, he should take a mental glimpse at what lies behind the news which comes from Stockholm.

Swedish travellers returned from Amsterdam report that in occupied Holland
the Nazis have imposed a regimen which allows only one loaf of bread and two ounces of potatoes per week per person;
other things in proportion.

It is not only the townsfolk who are affected. Stock and crops have been swept off the farms and carried away to the Reich, and unless the farmers have been able to secrete some of their products
they are little if any better off than those who live in towns.

This does not imply that the Hitlerites
have a special hatred for the people of Holland. They treated the Greeks the same way. Hunger is one of the weapons they have employed to accomplish their stated purpose of so weakening the people of neighboring nations that these will fall an easy prey when the time comes to launch World War No. III.

Such rationing as we have known in Canada has been a health measure rather than a hardship. The starvation imposed on the Hollanders is deliberately designed to reduce the population and produce a generation of weaklings. The propagandists long ago made clear that this is part and parcel of Nazi policy.

Forty Miles to Bataan

Whatever deep, dark Oriental strategy
may lay behind the failure of the Japs to make a stand in Luzon is still a mystery,
supposing there is some such scheming behind their non-resistance. But this does not appear to be bothering General Mac-Arthur and his men a little bit. They celebrated the General's birthday by capturing the Clark Airfield, a significant milestone on the road to Manila—and also on the road to Tokyo. From this elaborate base, which somehow the Japs neglected to destroy, bombers will have Corregidor and Bataan on a milk run, will be within good range of enemy positions on the China coast and Formosa, and will have better ground facilities than ever before for raiding the industrial centres of Japan itself.

The advance of the Allied forces has been moderate, indicating a healthy regard for Jap trickiness, and a thorough consolidation of the ground as gained. If there is to be a fight for Manila, which must be assumed, the attackers will have the advantage of a good base, good communications, and a good harbor through which to bring in supplies.

The Tokyo radiomen are talking about more Allied convoys en route to Luzon,
probably to land another force to the south of the capital, and thus put the garrison between two fires. As the broadcasters were correct in announcing the approach of the expedition which landed in Lingayen Gulf, some credit may be attached to their present report. Another landing to the south would in fact seem far from improbable.

Another week should clear up the
"phony" feature of the war in Luzon.
Whatever Yamashita has in mind—if anything definite—cannot be kept in the inner recesses of his secretiveness much longer.

While nothing of the kind has been suggested, it rather looks as though the projected "big three" conference may have to be postponed for a while. Marshal Stalin is a busy man these days. He is superintending the swinging of five armies on a line 600 miles or more long, the armies averaging about 1,000,000 men each. Being the realist he is, the Marshal may prefer to go on swinging and leave the discussion of secondary matters until things are less pressing.

The Berlin radio shouted "never" in response to Mr. Churchill's declaration that unconditional surrender is the one road by which the Nazis can get out of the war.
The enemy, it will be observed, is now arguing about the terms on which he will surrender. Not many months ago Herr Hitler was telling invaded countries the terms on which their people would be allowed to eat. Quite a change.

In three days, it is reported, Allied airmen smashed 7,000 tanks and armored vehicles, 700 railroad cars, and 210 locomotives, on the roads and railways behind the western front. Von Rundstedt, mourning his loss, must wonder how the Fuehrer thinks the Russians can be stopped by men and machines that do not get beyond the first stage of their journey from the West Wall to the Oder.

Note on Russia

FROM THE WINNIPEG FREE PRESS

When the Red Army cleared northern Finland
the soldiers penetrated into northern Norway and pushed the Nazis out of that region of the country too. Here, surely, was an opportunity—if we are to believe the stories of Russia's ambition to engulf Europe—for the USSR to establish themselves on the Atlantic seaboard.

Instead, what happened? Marshal Stalin asked Great Britain and the Norwegian government in exile to relieve him and his men of the task of occupation. He wanted to withdraw his men and to leave Norway to the Norwegians and their British ally.

This is something for the world to remember,
for it is evidence as it stands of a fundamental moderation in Russian policy, a moderation which,
as it is pursued, will greatly enhance the prospects
of a durable peace.

Use of Term "Red"

Editor, Bulletin: I have taken
your paper through our local carrier for a number of years. Since the war, you have invariably referred to the Russian army as the Red army. "The Reds advance, or the Reds invade, etc."

Why use the term "Red"? It is not so long ago the term "red" was used in derision of contempt and still is by some unenlightened people. Would it not sound better to use their proper name, seeing they are such staunch allies of ours and on whom we depend so much?

ROBERT ALLOWAY.
Fallis P.O., Alta.

Editor's Note: The Red Army is
the official name for the army of the USSR, just as the Red Fleet is the official term for its navy. Members of its forces are justifiably proud to be known as soldiers of the Red Army or sailors of the Red Fleet and newspaper use of the word "Red" in this connection is in no way intended to be a slur on the forces of our Allies. Its use is actually more correct than to say
"Russian army" since Marshal Stalin's forces are comprised of many nationalities making up the USSR.

Charter Amendments

Editor, Bulletin: Being a subscriber to your valuable paper, I noticed in Monday's edition of Jan.
22, page 14, columns one and two,
a schedule of charter amendments desired by the city council which are to be submitted to the forthcoming session of the provincial legislature for ratification or rejection.
Among others there is "one proposition" note it is not under the heading of an amendment which begins with the word
"Power"—will be sought—also to permit the street railway system to "charge fares higher than the universal five-cent fare—if the system extends services to districts
either within or without the city
not served at the date of the passing of the amendment, and if a such charges shall not constitute a violation of the principle of uniformity of passenger fares throughout the city, nor a violation of any of the provisions of the Edmonton-Strathcona amalgamation agreement."

Well, I am not conversant with the Edmonton-Strathcona agreement which I will leave up to the residents of South Edmonton (Strathcona) to deal with. What I am concerned about is that there is a large and increasing residential element east of the end of the Highlands car line on 64 street to 50 street boundary, a huge increase of residences has materialized in recent years.

A loop is required from the end of the Highlands car line terminal down to 50 street north to 118
avenue and then west to hook up with the North Edmonton car line at the corner of 71 street. The residents of the above districts
need this service and have a right to have it at the regular universal five-cent fare.

Residents, let's hear from you and give your opinions on the issue. My quotation of the press report beginning with the word "Power" and ending with the word "agreement"
is very subtle and could be construed to mean anything by a clever corporation lawyer. So watch your step.

Qualifications

Editor Bulletin: In criticizing the educational qualifications of the editors and writers of "certain Canadian newspapers" your correspondent "Lefty" shows a lamentable ignorance of the political and financial background of the country in which he lives.

Most editors and writers, including reporters, who work for Cana-

adian newspapers have not only attended universities and are well-read, but have travelled widely, the best form of education. Some of them are Socialists and Communists, or at least have an intelligent knowledge of economics and the various "isms".

To have this knowledge and to present it clearly to the public are two different things, however.
Editors of most Canadian newspapers have "patrons" (a pleasant word than "boss") behind the golden doors of St. James Street and the party citadels in Ottawa.
Does your correspondent believe that in such an atmosphere "freedom of the press" to the extent he desires, is available to progressive-minded writers?

The remedy is in the hands of the Canadian people. In the matter of political and economic education
the great majority of them are at least thirty years behind more progressive-minded nations such as Great Britain, New Zealand, and the Scandinavian countries.

It is high time Canadians put aside their cloak of nineteenth-century "respectability". So far as political education is concerned,
and set about training their minds
to the realization that the doctrine of vicious competition is the economic sphere is a thing of the past.
The twentieth century belongs to the more civilized creed of cooperation and social development.

One of the ways by which the "Lefties" can obtain the enlightened reading they desire is by encouraging the publication of socialist newspapers and periodicals. They will never get what they want from the other sort. C. E. GARDINER.

Disrespectful

Editor, Bulletin: It is high time
that someone came to the defence of the mothers of this town, in regard to the transportation provided.
In particular I was nauseated by the reference to them by your correspondent, who signed himself, or herself, "Bike Rider"—what colossal impudence. Parcel packing mamas, I wonder if this person eats and if so, who does the shopping, carries it home (to accommodate the stores) which we are told is a patriotic thing to do.
I also wonder who does the cooking for this rude disrespectful person? Incidentally who does the laundry for them? Who keeps their homes clean? In fact who does all the odd chores which come along?

Does he not know that the hours set by the street railway are ridiculous for the housewife? We are, or we have been told frequently enough since this war started,
that we, the mothers, are the "backbone of the nation". Are we? Or are we the butt of "adolescents" who look to us for all of their wants and comforts of home?

I think it is about time, too, that children were taught better manners and not encouraged by all this talk about shoppers to feel entitled to pass remarks for the benefit of the shopping mothers, all to their detriment, in fact to the point of sheer embarrassment in the case of ill health.

Penalty

Editor, Bulletin: In your editorial
"Better Act Together" you say
"Britain has paid the usual penalty of the neighbor who intervenes in a private fight. It has been misunderstood by its friends and misrepresented by its enemies."

But, Britain's friends have understood her actions, what they cannot understand is why her motives have been misrepresented. It was not merely to interfere in a private fight. By her actions Great Britain has stopped the play before the final act of this Greek tragedy, and thereby has saved thousands of Greeks from being murdered and millions from becoming slaves.

British action in Greece has ended the long, and dishonest use of the word democracy. As Churchill said, in reply to his critics—"I feel differently about 'swindle' democracy" which calls itself democracy
just because it is "left wing". Democracy is not a harlot to be picked up on the street by a man with a
"tommy-gun". For two years the

House Hunting

Washington Has Nothing
On Ottawa as a Crowded
City

By B. T. RICHARDSON

WASHINGTON—After the greatest expansion in its history, Washington is suffering a housing hangover, so that a newcomer's letters back home are filled with tales of house-hunting. A newly arrived columnist devoted his column for two weeks to blood-curdling tales of fruitful search for lodgings, adding to Washington's notoriety across the country as most-congested area in the world. This is the glamorized Hollywood view, and, Washington
people have had considerable enjoyment out of the reputation their city has gained from seam-bursting congestion.

Three days convinced me Washington has nothing on Ottawa as a crowded city, though it is five times as big or more. You might get a job in a Massachusetts Avenue mansion as a butler or maid
in order to have a place to sleep.
You might chase ambulances around, hoping to obtain houses left by traffic casualties.

You might do these things if you took Hollywood movies as gospel, or if you believed all the stories circulating by print and by word. But if you decided to act your age, you would do just what commonsense dictates. You would go home-hunting without tears and without despair. Arriving with two hotel reservations, I have five prospects for apartments and houses after four days in town.
None of these may materialize. I have also had what I take to be the American cold shudder from three rental agents. But a lady in Georgetown district, who wants to make a visit to California, called me up to say I could have her house for two weeks, maybe more.

I pondered this and called her back to turn it down.

One meets interesting people.
Also one gets to know the city.

On both counts, house-hunting provides valuable experience.
After reading a high-priced writer
to the effect that the American people, under the strain of war,
were losing charm and politeness,
one ventures into Washington with trepidation. But after the third rental agent has pleasantly warmed one's hopes for a house or apartment, listened sympathetically
to one's desires, and offered honest
news and views on the situation,
the outlook looks less bleak. I made an expedition six and a half miles out and had a look around at a nice suburban area. The air was bracing and the "for sale" sign was hanging on dozens of houses. Like every crowded city, Washington has a real estate boom and everyone wanting to sell has added three or four thousand dollars to house values. Rents, too, seem high, but numerous parties assured me the rental control was very severe.

Waving down a taxi, I noticed the driver was a grey-haired woman, someone's grandmother. As we drove along, she trotted the horn gently at a big black car. "You wouldn't think they could drive a car like that on an A ration," she said. So I asked her how long she had been driving a taxi. "More than two years," she said, "and I've cost my insurance company only $3.50
in that time. Now, that's pretty good." I said: "That's practically perfect."

Washington is intimate like that.
It is a city of marble buildings and long sweeping avenues, of Negro tenements and castles behind high walls, of big and small hotels and miles of American homes. Some of its people and some of its newspapers run a temperature with excitement every day over things like the airplane ride of President Roosevelt's daughter-in-law's dog.
So the problem for a reporter will be to avoid writing with excitement
all the time. Nothing is ever all black or all white.

Right now, in January, 1945, the mercury of Washington's optimism is beginning to rise. One feels it everywhere, after a week of headlines on the great Russian offensive in Poland and into Germany.
It might be over soon. It is the common talk. But the whole civilian front is lightening up, in postwar conversation back to peacetime production, in stricter rationing, in lighter manpower controls. These are the things one will write about in the next few weeks, to give the lowlown in Washington. It is strange how little toll on the vitality of America is evident from the effects of a nation maintaining four armies in France, another in Italy,
and still another in the Philippines,
along with a massive naval effort
in the Pacific. Small shortages streak the civilian front. But hardships? No. Only a very great nation could fight on this scale at these distances, and the United States is doing it.

Old-Age Pension Reform

Important to Canadians to Approach Scheme With Eyes Open

By J. H. GRAY

In a recent speech in eastern Canada, Mr. Brooke Claxton, MP, parliamentary assistant to the Prime Minister, revealed that plans are well advanced for the introduction of a scheme of contributory
old-age pensions at the next session of parliament. This is surely a step which will get a hearty reception
from all Canadians, though we must expect some difference of opinion to emerge on technical aspects of whatever scheme is produced.

An adequate old-age pension scheme is surely an integral part of any enlightened scheme of national social security. With family allowances, unemployment insurance, health insurance and old-age pensions, the most important har-dards which beset the lives of the people in an industrial democracy are, if not completely removed,
almost neutralized.

Unemployment insurance was the first to be enacted. Family allowances were passed unanimously by parliament this year. Attempts to draft a satisfactory health insurance act have been under way for two years, but the inherent difficulties have so far circumvented
the good intentions of the doctors,
social workers and political leaders who have wrestled with the matter. Perhaps, because we have an old-age pension act of sorts,
there seemed less urgency about coming to grips with this aspect of social security and so it was left to the last.

If it were not for the other har-dards—unemployment, sickness, accident and the cost of raising children, the citizen might take measures to work out his own old-age security. Indeed, through insurance policies and innumerable employer-employee pension schemes, hundreds of thousands of Canadians do try to look after themselves in their old age. Some succeed very well and others fall through no fault of their own.

It is because so many have failed,

after a lifetime of hard work, to provide for themselves in their old age that sentiment for some kind of a government-sponsored scheme
has become almost unanimous.

When the present old-age pension scheme went into effect we regarded it as a great forward step;
and it was. But we have come to realize through the years that it leaves much to be desired. In the best of circumstances it provides a bare subsistence for our old people, and that is not good enough.
The treatment meted out to our old-aged pensioners is not something that rests easy on the conscience of the Canadian people.

As the Canadian working population approaches the pensionable
age, those who have tried to provide for themselves discover that the present act helps them not at all. It penalizes the thrifty by not helping them, and rescues the improvident by granting them pensions. What we require in Canada is a scheme which will encourage thrift in our people, an old-age pension plan which will provide for our old people on a decent standard of living. Canadian men and women who devote their working years to the building up of our country should be granted, as a matter of right, pensions which will enable them to spend their declining years in comfort.

Such a system is not impossible
of attainment. Without government contributions, hundreds of industrial firms have inaugurated plans with substantially higher benefits, and lower retirement
ages, than apply under the present system. These are financed by joint contributions by the employers and the employees. But for millions of Canadians, for farmers and their wives, for small business men and their employees and for professional people it is not possible to get into such schemes.
They must carry the full load of the insurance cost themselves, and in times of depression the load must be dropped.

When the government's scheme

is brought down it will be important for Canadians to approach it with their eyes wide open. The ordinary citizen must realize from the beginning that he, personally, will have to pay for what he gets in social security. Employers must realize that social security payments are going to be a permanent feature in their list of operating costs in Canada. And the whole people, the taxpayers direct and the taxpayers indirect, will understand that the cost of the social service they will get will come out of their own pockets. We believe the people will understand these things and, understanding them, will still want the government to proceed with its social security program.

Major and Minor Notes

By John Oliver

MUSICAL circles during the last week the main topic of conversation has been the concert given at the Empire theatre, as an "added" attraction in the Celebrity Series sponsored by the Women's Musical Club, by Richard Crooks, tenor, of the Metropolitan Opera Association, assisted by Arthur LeBlanc, Canadian violinist.

JOHN OLIVER

That the singing of the great Metropolitan tenor was of the "top drawer" variety and that the playing of the rising Canadian star was admirable is admitted by all who was in the theatre.

Mr. Crooks merits great praise for his artistry and personality. He deserves extensive commendation also for his assistance to other artists. Two years ago when he appeared at the Empire, he brought along William Primrose. It is generally conceded that Primrose is the world's finest violinist. He had severed his connection with the NBC Symphony, with which he was

ed additional attraction for concertgoers, and opportunities for two sterling artists that might not otherwise have come along.

Under the auspices of the Women's Association of First Baptist Church, Clement Q. Williams, Australian lyric baritone, will appear in recital at First Baptist church on the nights of Feb. 1 and 2. He will be assisted at the piano by Enid Conley, who in private life is Mrs. Williams. A different program will be given each night. Proceeds will be applied toward the welfare activities of the sponsoring organization. Reports from the committee in charge of which is Mrs. M. C.

first chair violinist, only a short time before, and was embarking on his solo career at the time joined Mr. Crooks. And while Primrose had the ability to "make the grade" on his own behalf, there is no doubt that his association with Mr. Crooks went a long way toward establishing him as a popular concert artist. In any case, he has not lacked engagements since that time.

No doubt Mr. LeBlanc also will benefit from his tour with Mr. Crooks. Mr. LeBlanc also has undeniable ability of his own. No doubt, also, he will find engagements will come easier and more frequently as a result of this tour. Thus, while it is unlikely that either Mr. Primrose or Mr. LeBlanc would have filled the Empire had they come alone, either would fill it now.

Further, if they had not come along with Mr. Crooks, city music lovers would not have had the opportunity of hearing them. So, it was a happy idea all the way through. It eased the strain on Mr. Crooks during his concert tour, with winter at its height, it provided McCallum a convenor, indicate widespread interest in the concerts.

McCoy Health Service

I discussed some of the problems of those who are thin and explained that I have found it advisable for the patient who wishes to gain, to get thinner first. This is accomplished through the fast, which brings about the elimination of toxins. It is not necessary to fast the thin patient for very long and as far as ultimate good is concerned, the loss of five pounds in a thin person will be equal to at least a twenty pound loss in the person who is overweight.

The fruit fast in some form generally is the best to use and when the fruit fast is taken to bring about this loss of weight, the patient will notice a remarkable improvement afterward, due to the fact that the body has been freed from the encumbrance of toxic material. The liver and gall bladder will function more normally and the digestion will improve.

Many thin people make themselves thinner by trying to gain weight through stuffing. Advising the thin person to put on more weight by eating more food does not work out in actual practice. The stuffing process may bring about a temporary gain, but this gain is then lost. I have found the short fruit fast a better method than the conclusion of the fast, the patient is then to use a reasonable amount of food, chosen in such a way that the meals are well-balanced.

It is also advisable for the patients who wish to add a few needed pounds to slow down their mental gymnastics—worry, anxiety, and other destructive emotions—and to increase the amount of physical exercise secured. With the exercising, they should learn to breathe better. If they will learn to breathe to better advantage during the time that the exercises are being taken, they will notice an improvement in their general health, and at the same time, the chest will have a more attractive appearance.

No single standard may be used to judge whether you are at a weight normal for you, as an individual. The best weight for you, is the weight at which you feel best. Perhaps the knowledge that the average thin patient lives longer than the average fat patient may help to console you when you find you are slightly under the average weight charts.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Work Is Reviewed Wide Range of Studies Made by Research Body

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—(CP)—Investigations ranging from the design of tailless aircraft to the development of canning methods for chicken, pork and ham are among projects under the direction of the National Research Council, a preliminary review of the council's work in 1944 said yesterday.

"Details can not yet be given regarding many of the most interesting but secret projects under the council's direction," said the report.

Much test work is being done on aircraft engines in the aeronautical laboratories and "great advances" have been made in devising aircraft. Physical chemistry has found a way to disperse raindrops which fall on a pilot's turret and tend to obscure his vision. Fuels have been improved.

War requirements have placed emphasis on work on foods, their preservation and methods of transport. A simplified system of refrigeration permitted the carriage of bacon and other perishables in ordinary cargo holds.

Attention has been given to the conversion and stabilization of linseed and other vegetable oils for edible purposes. Industrial utilization of agricultural products is an important branch of the work.

A pilot plant using a mechanical method to extract resin-rubber gums from native plant materials such as milkweed is in full-scale operation, and the production of butylene glycol from wheat also is in the pilot plant stage.

In the chemistry division substantial advances have been made in rot-proofing, flame-proofing and water repellency treatment of fabrics. Development of new protective coatings has kept the paint laboratory busy, and camouflage preparations have been much in demand.

Mr. Motherwell was elected president in May, 1944.

New Union Balks At CCF Support

VANCOUVER, Jan. 27.—(CP)—The Bakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Union of Vancouver Thursday gave its political action committee a "mandate" to disassociate the union from the political action committee of the Canadian Congress of Labor because of the CCL's recent endorsement of the CCF.

In a statement to its committee the union said: "Our union favors independent political action to further national unity" and "repudiate the action... of the political action committee of the CCL."

The union's action follows by one night the stand taken by the International Woodworkers of America, which Wednesday night announced its withdrawal from the national political action committee of the CCL for the same reason.

Abortion Fatal

TORONTO, Jan. 27.—(CP)—A coroner's jury investigating the death of Miss Rita Lamotte, RCAF, of Sault Ste. Marie, last night attributed the girl's death to septic poisoning resulting from "A criminal abortion performed in Kitchener by some person or persons unknown to this court, but apparently known to Mrs. Rita Snyder and Mrs. Stella Franklin of Bridgeport, Ont."

Summon United Church Presbytery To Meet at Norwood Church Feb. 1

TO PRESIDE—The Rev. E. H. Birdsell, B.A., B.D., minister of Norwood United Church, who will preside at the winter session of the Edmonton Presbytery of the United Church of Canada in Norwood United Church Thursday, Feb. 1. Deliberations will open at 9:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day. The Rev. D. J. O. Scotter, of New Brunswick, will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Experiences Among the Cree Indians at Oxford House." Mr. Scotter spent many years as a minister and missionary among the Cree Indians of Northern Manitoba.

The winter session of the Edmonton Presbytery of the United Church of Canada is summoned to meet in Norwood church on Thursday, Feb. 1, at 9:30 a.m. with deliberations continuing through the day. The chairman, Rev. E. H. Birdsell, will preside.

A special guest of the presbytery at the noonday luncheon will be the Rev. D. J. O. Scotter, of New Brunswick, who will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Experiences Among the Cree Indians at Oxford House." Mr. Scotter spent many years as a minister and missionary among the Cree Indians of Northern Manitoba.

The Cree Indians and their history, customs and present-day life were matters of keen interest to him, and during his stay in the north he made a very thorough historical, sociological and psychological study of the Oxford House community. The results of this study were incorporated in a thesis which was accepted for a theological degree by United College, Winnipeg.

In addition to his lecture at the presbytery, Mr. Scotter will deliver a series of lectures at St. Stephen's college from Monday to Thursday of next week, and will preach on Sunday in Garneau and McDougall United churches.

The leader of devotions at the presbytery meetings will be the Rev. E. H. Birdsell of Central United church. Committee reports will be heard from the Rev. Dr. Murdoch MacKinnon for missionary and maintenance, the Rev. Dr. A. K. McMillan for evangelism and social service, the Rev. Dr. E. T. Scragg for publications, the Rev. J. P. Berry for historical and archives, the Rev. R. E. Finlay for church property, and Dr. E. J. Thompson for church extension.

At Service

An old rural service—the Ceremony of the Plough—was revived after a lapse of three centuries when Dr. G. K. A. Bell, Bishop of Chichester, blessed a plough which had been towed into Chichester Cathedral.

Previously, the Bishop had blessed a banner presented to the Young Farmers' Clubs by the Sussex Agricultural Society.

Members of the Young Farmers' Clubs and the Women's Land Army crowded the cathedral for the service.

At 7:30 p.m. there will be a special University service in St. Stephen's auditorium, in which the principal speakers will take part followed by a reception with light refreshments provided by the Waukegan Society. On Monday morning at 11 o'clock special addresses will be given in the Medical building amphitheatres, at which time all lectures will be cancelled.

My Faith Is Not Shaken!

By C. PENNEY
Treasurer, Service Men's Christian League

Recent events have not shaken my faith in the ultimate triumph of Freedom and Justice, for I am of the opinion that those who are in God and believe that right will triumph eventually is too deeply ingrained in me to doubt its final victory.

I do emphasize the words "ultimate" and "final" for I am not at all sure we may not have to pass through a period of great trial. I am of the opinion that we are in prophetic days, when for a time Evil is to hold sway and apparently to override the Good.

We have been told plainly that such a state would exist, and I believe we must accept these conditions and possibly greater tribulation as part of the world's destiny without losing faith in its due time. Right will triumph over Might. As long as we believe in the existence, in the justice, and in the holiness of God, we cannot believe otherwise.

A manager recently wrote me that the times tend to fill every man's mind with pessimism. That should not be so. We should recognize that there are times of tribulation, but not as an occasion for pessimism. Such experiences should cause us to examine our faith and re-establish our convictions more firmly, resolving to accept ourselves like men who have a deep and abiding faith that cannot be shaken by outward events.

As long as we have faith at all in God, we must know that He is all-powerful, that His will for the world is Justice and Right and that eventually His purpose will be established here on earth. Good emerges slowly, but we must not doubt its final victory.

These are my convictions as to the world as it is in relation to an overruling Providence.

As to our country, my faith in our America, in its people and in our "way of life," is unwavering. America is the greatest country on earth—not because it is our country, but by comparison with other countries. Its founding I believe have been divinely ordained, and that God has a mighty mission for this country among the nations of the world.

America was founded by our forefathers in prayer, in faith, and in the heroic spirit of sacrifice. They chose the hard right rather than the easy wrong, and were ready to lay down their lives for freedom to worship God according to the dictates of their consciences. They underwent grievous hardships; many did lay down their lives; and throughout the nation's history, when the occasion has made it necessary, their descendants have paid the supreme sacrifice upon its battlefield to preserve these principles of freedom.

In the immortal words of Lincoln: "It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task before us . . . that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that the government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Yes, our country is great. It could have been mightier than it

TODAY'S MESSAGE

The Vision of Heaven

THE doctrine of everlasting life is the most difficult in which to have a practical, vivid belief. But there is no Christian who does not console himself with the assurance that behind the veil of earth looms the brightness and glory of eternal life. Too many fail, however, to keep the vision of heaven bright in their souls; their days—the days of waiting—seem, therefore, barren and empty.

Man possesses simultaneously two lives; the natural and the supernatural. Or, to put it more arrestingly, he has already begun his eternal life. He has been born, and he will never die. The days of his waiting comprise what, comparatively speaking, is a second of time. But that second is tremendously important, because it is the only period in which he may prepare himself for his place in eternity.

We should have not only the vision of heaven but the constant will to make ourselves fit for ultimate union with God. Life is a stage and we are all actors of a sort. Our days, then, should be days of rehearsal, so that even before the curtain of eternity is drawn back, we shall have attained perfection in our allotted parts.

To act out our days as though there were no eternity is to deny one of the great fundamental truths of the Christian credo.

Revive Ceremony
An old rural service—the Ceremony of the Plough—was revived after a lapse of three centuries when Dr. G. K. A. Bell, Bishop of Chichester, blessed a plough which had been towed into Chichester cathedral.

A Dutch newspaper, De Gelderland, is exhorting its readers to show moderation in their attitude toward Germany. An editorial writer tells the Dutch: "We must pray that we will be more humane victors than the German people, for if we sink to their level, it would be a sad thing for the future of Europe."

To Every Private
Just a private in the army
But he's proud to bear that name;
Though he has no stripes or medals,
We're still proud of him the same.

He's just one among the millions,
But he does his best each day—
Though he has no special rating,
Still he's gallant every way.

For his buddies and companions
He would sacrifice a lot,
For his home and friends and country,
He is giving all he's got.

He could rise to be a major,
Or some other "high-up" man,
But they need a lot of privates,
And he'll serve the best he can.

United Church Congregations Hold Meetings

Annual meetings of United Church congregations are proceeding in the city this month, and many congregations that have not already heard their reports will be holding their annual meetings next week. On Wednesday, Jan. 31, Knox, Metropolitan and Robertson meetings will be held.

His first-hand observations make him truly qualified to discuss the question of religion and the fighting man in the front lines of battle.

Miss Bernice McBeth, popular Edmonton soprano, will be the guest soloist and 5-Sgt. Harvey Mittenthal will render a violin selection. A highlight of the service will be a musical feature presentation by the USAAF 350th Band Sextette under the direction of WOJG W. E. Smith. The Scripture lesson will be read by Capt. C. F. A. Clough, chaplain of the Royal Canadian Army and the invocation will be said by the Rt. Rev. W. F. Barfoot, Anglican Bishop of Edmonton. Ft.-Lt. A. S. Roblin, NWAC chaplain, RCAF, will offer the benediction. The national anthems of the two countries will climax the anniversary service.

City Minister Tells Church He Will Retire

After 31 years in the ministry and with service in Alberta to his credit dating from 1910, the Rev. A. R. Schrag, minister of Eastwood United Church announced at the annual meeting Wednesday night that he planned to retire from active work on July 1 next.

He said that he had reached retirement age and he felt that after such a lengthy period of service he would avail himself of the right and privilege of more leisure in the future.

Regret was expressed by the meeting at the announcement and warm tributes were expressed for his long and faithful service.

No announcement was made regarding a call to a successor.

GOOD REPORT

The treasurer's report, submitted by P. H. Evans showed that all indebtedness had been wiped out. Substantial repairs and improvements had been made and gas installation had been made. A fund had been set aside for other repairs in the current year. The congregation agreed it was the most encouraging report heard in several years.

The Ladies' Aid reported a successful year, raising $575 with 18 active members. The Women's Missionary Society raised $80. The Sunday school reported a successful year with an average attendance of 127.

A resolution of appreciation of the choir work done by T. Clarke, senior choir leader, Mrs. Clarke, pianist and Miss Kathleen Clarke, leader of the junior choir, all of whom have relinquished their posts.

New officers appointed were: Sunday school superintendent, Mrs. Alice Walker; junior school, Miss L. Wray; Women's Missionary Society president Mrs. William Wray and head of the Women's Association, Mrs. Angus Wolfe.

The CGIT group report detailed work carried out under the direction of Mrs. Alice Wright, who continues in charge.

Young People's Activities

Robertson young people are now meeting once a week. It is planned to have two socials and two speakers each month. At the last meeting Don Cormie showed films on his trip to the youth conference.

Plans were made for a special Valentine Social to be held Feb. 13. Wesley-Robertson young people are planning a church service and fireside with Robertson and Christ Church young people to be held in Robertson Feb. 4. Last meeting several members spoke on "Missions and Missionaries in Canada."

McDougall young people saw Evelyn Young lead in a sing song and devotional service. Mildred Hill talked of a new field in Protestant missions "The East Indies."

Metropolitan young people had as their guest speaker Dr. E. J. Thompson of the St. Stephens College who spoke in the first of a series of lectures on "Youth Christianity and the Modern World."

All citizens, public officials, and churches are being urged by the Assembly of the Southern California Council of Protestant Churches to support the constitutional rights of Japanese-Americans returning to the west coast. The council especially commends the Pasadena School Board for asserting the right of a young American of Japanese ancestry to re-enter school there.

Pigeons on London's Trafalgar Square flock around two friends they haven't seen in a long time and are rewarded with choice tidbits. The sisters—Maureen, 5, and Juliet Elliott, 2½—were evacuated to Bristol during the re-bomb blitz, but returned to London for the holidays.

Canada Blueprints Post-War Prosperity For War Veterans

Former farmhand of Muir Kirk, near Chatham, Ont., Wally Attridge, veteran of this war, is now a farmer in his own right. The government helped him buy his own farm, as well as several hundred chickens, with a grant.

When the work is done the Attridges play cribbage in their cosy farm home during the evenings. To help them get established, the federal government gave the Attridges an outright gift of $2,320. Monthly payments on the money still owing amount to only $16 a month.

Vital Link in the Great Russian Offensive—The Edmonton-Alaska Air Highway

While the Soviet assault thunders on the eastern front, the air highway from Edmonton to Alaska continues to rush supplies to the Russians. Here Soviet fliers wait at Ladd Field, Fairbanks, before taking over planes.

Way station on road to Russia is this Watson Lake post, properly plastered with signs by New Zealand pilots of the RCAF. It is one link in the long air route built by Canada and equipped by U.S. More than 5,000 planes for Russia have been flown from Edmonton.

In the army farmer Attridge was accustomed to travelling by jeep, but on his new farm he has a team and a sleigh. With him are his wife and a young niece, Nelly. At 25, Attridge is a veteran of three years in the army. His wife cleans her own eggs for the market.

Their First Jump Was a Life-Saver For These RCAF Airmen

Snatched from death were these three airmen who bailed out from one of four crashing RCAF planes which were caught in a sudden blizzard early Jan. 12. They landed in Holland marsh, near Bradford, Ont., safe and uninjured.

Squalls in the Pacific

Bewildered Coast Guardsman Harry R. Watson, of Los Angeles, combat photographer on Leyte Island, may know how to make friends and interest people, but he flopped completely in trying to chum up with the Filipino tot he's holding in the photo above.

WHITTLE BELGIAN BULGE—British Infantrymen, carrying full equipment, advance through a snow-covered forest in the Ardennes sector to join troops fighting the Nazis.

TANK HUNTING COMPETITION IN ITALY—When Canadian troops in Italy aren't fighting, they're training for future battles. Recently a tank hunting competition was held north of Bagnacavallo for all battalions of an infantry brigade. The target was a burned out German Panther, and the weapon used was the deadly little PIAT (Projector Infantry Anti-Tank). Scores were all high and troops enjoyed themselves, especially the winning team (above) grouped around the trophy.

LUCKY DOG—The five-year-old fox-terrier, above, aptly named Jack, will get plenty of just that, barring legal difficulties. His former owner, the late Mrs. Margaret Myers, of Detroit, made him sole heir to an estate estimated at $20,000. Her handwritten will also provided that "whoever takes care of him at my home shall have free rent."

BRINGS BABY INTO WORLD VIA TELEPHONE INSTRUCTIONS—Hiram Roy, left, Stoney Point, Ont., resident, had to deliver his wife's newest baby himself when the doctor was snowbound. Mrs. Roy and the baby are shown on the right after Hiram Roy, acting on telephoned instructions of Dr. H. G. Emerson of Comber, brought the baby into the world himself. The doctor couldn't get through because of bad roads. Mother and baby are fine.

Discontinuance Of Tax on Gas Asked by AFU

Discontinuance of the present Dominion government tax on gasoline used in agricultural machinery is to be requested by the Alberta Farmers' Union, according to terms of a resolution passed Friday afternoon by the AFU convention in the Masonic Temple. Rate of the tax is three cents a gallon.

Other motions passed in dying hours of the convention late Friday will call on the province to increase bounties paid on timber wolves and coyotes, will request that more power washing machines be made available to farm homes, will urge the Dominion to redraft the Veterans' Land Act, and seek to abolish daylight saving time in Alberta. The convention adjourned at 8 p.m. Friday, after sitting since Tuesday morning.

CAN'T MAKE CHANGE

Sponsors of the motion to have the tax on agricultural gasoline removed pointed out diesel tractor operators pay no tax. "We can't change to diesel even if we wanted to," one delegate stated. "We have to use gas tractors." The motion received unanimous convention support.

The motion on predatory animal bounties calls for doubling of present payments on timber wolves and coyotes killed, and urges that a bounty be placed on bears.

One delegate supporting the resolution declared the wolf and bear menace had greatly increased in the last four or five years. He told of one rancher losing four head of cattle a day to wild animals.

"All you need to see to know how necessary is a bounty on bears is to see what one can do in a litter of pigs in a pig pen," another delegate said. "Those bears sure like their little pigs."

Women delegates to the convention urged endorsement of a resolution requesting the Dominion government to allow manufacture of more power washing machines.

MOTION OPPOSED

The motion was opposed by W. H. Childress, High River, who said the tax must be won before manufacture of this type of machinery should be resumed.

"It seems electric washers are coming back," one lady delegate said. "Why shouldn't the farm women get power washers?"

"If Mr. Childress will cut his hay with a sickle, then I'll go out and wash clothes by hand," another woman delegate declared. Without further debate, the motion carried.

The motion on the Veterans' Land Act was redrafted by the convention resolution committee headed by R. N. Russell, Athabasca, after it had been rejected in original form.

The accepted resolution calls on the Dominion government to reconsider and redraft the Veterans' Land Act, in consultation with committees named for that purpose. On the committees would be representatives of veterans of the First Great War, veterans of the present conflict, and members from farm organizations.

UNANIMOUS SUPPORT

Recommendation in favor of abolition of daylight saving time in Alberta received unanimous support from delegates. "I don't think one per cent of the farmers are in favor of daylight saving," Henry Young, Millet, an AFU vice-president, stated. He urged wider publicity be given to farmers' objections to the daylight saving system.

Reduction of the old-age pension age limit to 60 years was urged in another resolution passed late Friday. Such an age reduction would be a "primary factor in solving the unemployment question after the war," the motion stated. It was submitted for convention approval by four separate AFU locals.

Following adjournment of the convention, the AFU board of directors will meet in the city Saturday and Sunday to conclude business arising out of the four-day sessions.

Kiwanians Plan Bird House Event

In view of the success of the previous effort, those in charge of the Kiwanis Bird House competition are looking forward to a still better showing and arrangements are being made accordingly. Instructive articles describing song birds that nest in this district or that could be enticed here if suitable houses were put up, will appear weekly. These articles will also tell of the types of houses that birds appear to like best, the best method of constructing them, and the best colors to paint the finished work, and will give other helpful suggestions for intending competitors. Through the courtesy of the newspapers, these will be made available to the boys and girls who are asked to watch for the articles and preserve them for future reference.

The Kiwanis Club solicits also, the co-operation of parents, teachers and other interested in the children, in order that the main aim of the competition—the protection and preservation of bird life—may receive added impetus. Members of the club will gladly furnish any desired information or

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

FRED KERNER in his Canadian Press story refers to the ambitious rebuilding program launched by President Bill Tobin of the Black Hawks. He says Tobin's is a long-range affair for he has few hopes of crawling out of the cellar this year.

And continues Fred, "The two most important steps in the rebuilding are affiliation with amateur Canadian junior hockey clubs—Edmonton Canadians and Moose Jaw Canucks—and adoption of a farm team in the American Association—Kansas City—when that circuit re-organizes in the post-war period."

"Next two most important steps in the Tobin plan," says Kerner, "are the appointment of a scout for western Canada and another for eastern Canada. Added to the fact that the Hawks have a talent scouting staff, Tobin picked a pair of men for these jobs who are, to say the least, capable. Touring the west is former goalie Cecil (Tiny) Thompson. Hawk coach Paul's brother on the eastern front is Chicago's veteran campaigner, John Gottselig."

DOREEN DUTTON, who won the junior lady figure skating championship of Canada at Toronto last night, is one of the featured artists chosen by officials of the Glenora Skating Club to appear on the Ice Fantasy program in the Arena on March 1, 2.

The scramble for first place in the scoring averages in the junior league, threatens to become a centre ice show. Cyril Thomas, left winger for Canadians is the only serious challenger to the monopoly. Vince Bannion, and Jim Slugg of Canadians and Bobby Manson of EAC's occupy the first three slots. Then comes Cyril, but one point away is Jimmy King, lately playing the pivot position for Maple Leafs.

Bannon Leading Junior Hockey League Scoring

Vince Bannion, Canadians' centre, with a total of 18 points, is leading the scoring race in the Edmonton Junior Hockey League. Bannion, out due to an injury, missed two of his team's eight games, but he made six points—a league record—last Wednesday.

Tied, two points below with 16 each are Jim Slugg, another Canadian pivot and Bobby Manson, EAC centre ice man. Slugg has 10 goals and Manson nine. Cyril Thomas, left winger for the Canucks is in fourth place with 15 points, one more than Jim King of the Maple Leafs. Slugg has played seven games.

Thomas and King, with 11 each are the leading goal-getters, while Don Benkie, EAC right wing, tops the assists department with 10. Jack Duffield, EAC left wing and Benkie are tied with 12 points.

Bill Stollery, is high for South Side with 10 points, six of them goals.

Thomas, Bill Gadshy, Jack Klesko and Vince Bannion are the top four in penalties. All four teams have played eight games.

Increased Entry Expected For Edmonton Bonspiel

ENTRIES for the 28th annual bonspiel of the Alberta Curling Association which will commence in Edmonton on Monday, Feb. 5, will likely exceed considerably the 1944 total when 92 rinks competed, according to Secretary Jim McCool.

Number of enquiries from out-of-town curlers received to date by the secretary indicate there will be quite a jump in the number of visitors attending, while there also seems to be increased interest in the city.

Especially attractive prizes have been secured by the committee in charge and the additional ice which will be available will be a boon to both curlers and the draw committee.

The Granite rink is again in use, which means six more sheets of ice for the bonspiel, boosting the total to 22. There are 10 in the Royal and six at the Alberta Avenue club. The Edmonton rink is still doing its job.

Including the Alberta Consols, always held in conjunction with the bonspiel, and the grand aggregate there are 12 bonspiel events. Farm Bonspiel of the Granite is president of the Alberta Curling Association.

No Changes Anticipated In Personnel

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Control of the vast New York Yankee baseball empire Friday passed into the hands of Col. Larry MacPhail, Capt. Daniel R. Topping and Del Webb of Phoenix, Ariz., for an estimated purchase price of $2,800,000.

Real estate, including the Yankee Stadium and Ruppert Stadium at Newark and Kansas City, were included in the deal as well as their respective franchises and those of Binghamton, N.Y., in the eastern league and Norfolk, Va., in the Piedmont league.

Almost 400 players, 260 of whom are in the service on the organization's national defence list, went with the deal.

The $8.88 per cent of the stock administered by the Manufacturers Trust Company in behalf of the three heirs of the late Jacob Ruppert brought $2,500,000 in cash, said Wilfred Woltrick, vice-president of the trust company.

MacPhail said he concluded the deal for the 10 per cent owned by president Ed Barrow for an indefinite sum "between $300,000 and $500,000." But that George E. Ruppert, brother of the former owner, did not sell his holdings amounting to 3.12 per cent of the stock.

Barrow will continue as chairman of the board of directors and will continue to be acting president until MacPhail is placed on the army's inactive duty list Feb. 10. When the colonel is out of uniform he will become president and general manager of the club.

Manager Joe McCarthy will continue to boss the club on the field and no changes are anticipated in the organization's personnel. McCarthy signed a three-year contract in 1944 and George M. Weiss, secretary of the club and head of the vast farm system, has a contract paralleling Barrow's, which has three years to run.

MacPhail was formerly general manager of the Cincinnati Reds and president of the Brooklyn Dodgers. "Barrow and Weiss have lifetime jobs as far as I am concerned," stated the New Yankee leader. "I expect Barrow to stay on as long as he wants to and take full charge of everything, at least until I am out of uniform. I expect him to continue at least as long as his health permits as chairman of the board of directors."

Barrow commented, "yes, at least for a while."

Captain Topping of the Marines, who also owns Brooklyn Tigers of the National Football League, was not present at the meeting but his participation in the deal after a recent lease controversy with Branch Rickey of Brooklyn Dodgers, started rumors the new owners might have in mind a football connection at the Yankee Stadium.

MacPhail squashed that when he said, "I know nothing at all about the football situation. As far as I know there is no tieup."

AMERICAN LOOP TEAM HAS WON 14 PENNANTS
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—From the time the Yankees—then the Highlanders—came into the American league in 1904 they have won 14 American League pennants and 10 world series championships—all of them under two of their 11 managers.

Miller Huggins led them to the top for the first time in 1921. Huggins, who managed from 1918 to 1929, won six pennants and three world series titles. After his death, Bob Shawkey managed the club for one year, then Joe McCarthy took over the reins. Under McCarthy, the Yanks have won eight pennants in 14 seasons and have taken the world series championship seven times.

Oma Scores Major Upset In Outpointing Joe Baksi

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Heavyweight Lee Oma, of Detroit, less than a year ago small time in the boxing world, scored a major upset Friday night by decisively outpointing Joe Baksi in a 10-round bout before a packed house at Madison Square Garden.

A 12 to 5 underdog, Oma gave out 25½ pounds in weight but outboxed and outpointed his Kulpmont, Pa. opponent to gain the number one ranking among the current live war-time heavyweights. Oma weighed 185½ to 211 for Baksi.

A crowd of 17,249 that contributed to a gross gate of $85,792 saw Oma befuddle the ex-coal miner by his unorthodox trick of circling with his arms dangling at his side until ready to cut loose with lefts and rights that invariably made Baksi give ground.

Referee Art Donovan and judge Frank Forbes each gave Oma five rounds, Baksi three and called two even. Judge Bill Heavily gave Oma five, Baksi four and called one even. The Associated Press scorecard had Oma on top, seven rounds to three, with two of Baksi's rounds the ninth and 10th when he put on a savage rally trying for a knock-out.

ANSWER

For your own guidance and the guidance of many others who have written asking information concerning credit we are publishing below complete general information concerning this rehabilitation benefit. At the present time you should make inquiry at the office of F. T. Pinnell in the Veterans' Pavilion of the University Hospital on the south side. These offices will be moved shortly to the BPC building at Jasper Avenue and 141 Street.

Following is the complete information concerning Rehabilitation Credit.

The re-establishment credit is payable for those members of the forces who did not elect to take educational, vocational or technical training or benefits under the Veterans' Land Act. This credit is the equivalent of the basic gratuity and is calculated on the basis of $7.50 for each 30 days service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each 30 days service overseas or in the Aleutian Islands.

This credit may be used at any time within a period of 10 years for the following purposes:

- (i) The acquisition of a home to an amount not exceeding two thirds of the equity as determined under the act; the repair or modernization of his home, if owned by him;
- (ii) the purchase of furniture and household equipment for his domestic use to an amount not exceeding two thirds of the cost;
- (iii) working capital for his profession or business;
- (iv) the purchase of tools, instruments or equipment for his trade, profession or business;
- (v) the purchase of a business to an amount not exceeding two thirds of the equity fund required for the purpose;
- (vi) payment of premiums under any insurance scheme established by the government of Canada;
- (vii) the purchase of special equipment required for educational or vocational training;
- (ix) any other purpose authorized by the Governor-in-Council.

If a man has elected to take educational, vocational or technical training benefit, or benefits under the Veterans' Land Act, and these benefits are less than the amount of the Re-establishment Credit applicable to him the difference may be made available for any of the purposes specified in the other items of the Rehabilitation Credit and has been used wholly or in part and after an application is made.

Information concerning Rehabilitation credit is published below because of the many letters of inquiry received on this subject.

Dear Sir:
What clothing allowance am I entitled to on discharge. I served 12 months in the army in Canada.

Yours Truly,
H. F. Drumheller.

The area in which you served or length of service make no difference to the amount of clothing allowance you should receive on discharge. Here is the regulation: All ranks return or discharged subsequent to August 1, 1944 will receive a clothing allowance of $100 to help purchase civilian clothing. This allowance is not payable if retirement or discharge is for reason of misconduct.

Switzerland Faces Economic Pressure By United States

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The United States applied economic pressure to Switzerland yesterday for its continued dealings with Germany.

The state department announced that President Roosevelt is sending one of his own administrative assistants, Laughlin Currie, to resume negotiations with the Swiss in an effort "to shorten the war."

Mr. Currie, 44-year-old native of Dublin, N.S., will seek two objectives mainly:

1.—To persuade the Swiss to close their railroads to shipments of coal and other goods from Germany to northern Italy.

2.—To cut off continuing exports of some machine tools and a few strategic metals and food supplies from Switzerland into Germany.

Word Is Awaited Of Canucks Held In Silesian Camps

LONDON, Jan. 27.—(CP)—Canadian Red Cross officials here last night were awaiting news of a small group of Canadian prisoners of war known to be in Silesian camps in territory overrun by the Russians, and of more than 1,000 such men in camps still in the path of the great Red offensive.

About 400 Canadian soldiers are known to have been imprisoned in Silesia, 344,600 miles southwest of Breslau, and another 200 are housed in Silesia, S.B. southwest of Katowice, south of which is an important railway junction, according to latest military reports, but threatened by Soviet forces.

Some 20,000 men, including many who were in Silesian camps, are now in the hands of the Germans, according to an undated report from the Canadian Red Cross.

Human Torpedo Crews' Hideout Is Demolished

ROME, Jan. 27.—(AP)—An island hideout of German human torpedo crews in the northern Adriatic sea was demolished in a bombing raid by Allied planes, an official announcement said Thursday.

No much has been said about the hideout, since the first report came from a coast guard ship, the Italian torpedo boat, which was destroyed in the raid.

One plane was reported to have been shot down by the enemy, the other two, it was said, were damaged.

Soldier Will Get Part of Fine Back

REGINA, Jan. 27.—(CP)—An 18-year-old Saskatchewan soldier, Fred G. Deane, fined $100 after pleading guilty to having consumed a new bottle while on duty, will have $50 of the fine repaid by an order-in-council passed by the Saskatchewan government.

Government officials said that the soldier's fine was reduced to $50 because of his youth and the fact that he was a member of the Canadian Forces.

Freight Embargo

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The Association of American Railroads today announced a freight embargo on all goods shipped to or from the Soviet Union.

The embargo was announced in response to a request from the U.S. government to stop all shipments of goods to the Soviet Union.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Old In-Law Question Always Causes Trouble

War Wife and Husband's Mother Should Try to Overcome Mutual Antipathy Especially in These Trying Times

The mother-in-law—daughter-in-law imbroglio, which has caused more casualties on the home front than have taken place in the field of battle, is at its height just now when so many in-laws, who have nothing in common except mutual antipathy, are being forced to live together.

Oceans of tears have been shed about John's wife and John's mother, and thousands of poor John's have acquired nervous prostration trying to figure out why two noble, Christian women, who can get along peaceably with everybody else, can't get along with each other.

Yet the answer is simple. Their trouble stems back to exactly the same cause in both of them. It is because each wants to monopolize John, and because the mother-in-law is sure she is wisdom personified because she is old, and because the daughter-in-law is certain she knows all the latest fashions she is young.

SPLIT BLAME

Hence when two lady S. women who also have a streak of H. in their make-up, come in close contact, they are more than likely to get into each other's hair, and which one is the more to blame it is hard to say.

Generally speaking, it is the mother-in-law, not because she is the offending party, but because she is older and has had more experience of life than the bride has and should know how to handle a difficult situation more diplomatically than a young girl does. And that no young wife even suspects, also because she knows something and that is a man's happiness in marriage largely depends upon his wife and mother being friends.

So the mother-in-law should be the one to hold out the olive branch to the newcomer in the family and do everything in her power to protect her and convince her that she is not being forced to live with her. No matter how much the mother-in-law may love her son, she must remember that the bride is a new person, and she should try to make her feel at home.

OFTEN MISUNDERSTOOD

It is often misunderstood that the wicked mother-in-law has committed to present the young married couple with a beautiful home fully furnished when they returned from their bride's tour. The bride says she will never forgive her for this because she wanted a simple little cottage, such as she had always lived in, and to use the money she had hoarded for her own use, instead of being squandered in imported items.

She further adds that her husband's mother has him so under her thumb that he thinks he has no business meddling in their affairs. Undoubtedly mother-in-laws have a right to be jealous, and it is no wonder so many of them fall to pieces.

Veteran Horseman Is Convinced

Gas, Rubber Shortage Will Help

Dobbin Will Never Be Displaced

By A. E. NIGHTINGALE, JR.
There are numerous citizens round and about who have seen Edmonton develop since the turn of the century. But the number who have viewed Edmonton's activities in that time from the driver's seat of a horse-drawn wagon could be counted on the notches of a tenderfoot's Winchester.

Driver George Spellman has been in this position, and one of the views which he propounds is that as far as Edmonton is concerned there will always be horses plodding through city streets.
Mr. Spellman, 70-year-old resident of 11424 105th avenue and proprietor of the Spellman Transfer, one of the few horse-drawn businesses left in the west retaining horses for power is convinced that the time when these animals will be nonexistent will never come. "There is no time, anyway," he added with reservation.
"As a matter of fact, we are going back to horses," he said, "and in the time," he said.

GOOD REASON

While the average citizen with his street railways, trucks and automobiles might find it a little hard to envisage a world where the only means of moving from here to there is through the medium of a Dobbin, it is conceivable that "hays

"burners" will take on greater importance as war needs cut into civilian supplies of gas and rubber. That is the inescapable evidence on which Mr. Spellman bases his belief.

WELL VERSED

Mr. Spellman "knows his oats," as the saying goes. Ever since arriving in Edmonton in 1912 from his native Norfolk, England, he has had a pair of reins in his reliable hands. And before that, as a knee-high boy of eight summers, he spent his days at the reins of a horse-drawn wagon. He has been in the harness since that time, and he has been in the harness since that time, and he has been in the harness since that time.

Years ago, when he was employed by the Canadian National Railway, he was in charge of the horse-drawn mail delivery. He has been in the harness since that time, and he has been in the harness since that time, and he has been in the harness since that time.

He is especially proud of his record of not yet having had a mishap with any of his horse-drawn wagons.

Great War Vet Likes Travelling Over Land He'll Never See Again

A man who at one time was an important spoke in a wheel that revolved around some of the finest horses in Canada and the United States, has moved to Edmonton, where he has found a new life. He is David John McCaldin, 46-year-old veteran of the First Great War and the Irish Rebellion, and horse-trainer for as many years back as he can remember. Six years ago his love of horses led to the tragedy of blindness when he was thrown from a horse and subsequently lost his sight.

But for a man who lives in a world of darkness, he possesses to a rare degree the love of life that characterized his career with high-spirited animals in various parts of North America.
He is a native of Ireland. McCaldin came to Canada in 1926 after seeing service in the First Great War with the 36th Ulster Division. His blindness was the result of a gas attack in 1918. He spent the next few years in the United States, where he worked with the National Institute for the Blind at Washington. Then, with confidence restored in his ability to make his own way in the world, he became a salesman with a national medicine company, and won high commendation from his employers. And as if this wasn't enough to keep him active, he sold Christmas cards on the side—$340 worth, which is a sizeable amount even for a student with all his facilities, working his way through college.

Mr. McCaldin came to Edmonton early last December and has since become associated with a magazine firm. His plans call for a great deal of travelling through the Edmonton district, in the interests of work that will keep him entirely independent, a state which he, as a proud Irishman, is anxious to maintain.

FROM IRELAND
A native of Ireland, Mr. McCaldin came to Canada in 1926 after seeing service in the First Great War with the 36th Ulster Division. His blindness was the result of a gas attack in 1918. He spent the next few years in the United States, where he worked with the National Institute for the Blind at Washington. Then, with confidence restored in his ability to make his own way in the world, he became a salesman with a national medicine company, and won high commendation from his employers. And as if this wasn't enough to keep him active, he sold Christmas cards on the side—$340 worth, which is a sizeable amount even for a student with all his facilities, working his way through college.

HAD CONFIDENCE
For four and a half years after he became blind, Mr. McCaldin worked with the National Institute for the Blind at Washington. Then, with confidence restored in his ability to make his own way in the world, he became a salesman with a national medicine company, and won high commendation from his employers. And as if this wasn't enough to keep him active, he sold Christmas cards on the side—$340 worth, which is a sizeable amount even for a student with all his facilities, working his way through college.

RETAINS INTEREST
If the days of training and exhibiting are over, Mr. McCaldin's interest in horses is as great as ever. Mr. McCaldin has no relatives in this country. He likes Edmonton and says that since he has been here he has been particularly impressed by the kindness and generosity of Edmontonians.

Sees Delegation
MOSCOW, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Premier Stalin last night received a British parliamentary delegation at the Kremlin for a talk of an hour and a quarter "covering a wide field." Also present for the reception were Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet foreign commissar, and Leon Malsky, vice-commissar for foreign affairs.

Former Engineer Enters Retirement

Redcap Finds It's Hard to Quit After 42 Years as Railroader

By JACK DeLONG

When a man retires from the railroad after 42 years of service he feels badly enough to cry, even although the job he has held for the past 20 years or more has the most outlandish hours imaginable.

That was how Harry E. Moutray of 10640 109 street was feeling Saturday his first day of retirement following 42 years of service as a railroader, more than 20 of which was spent with the Canadian National Railways in Western Canada.

Harry Moutray, who once handled the money on some of Canada's fast trains, before a serious accident ended his days on the right side of a locomotive, has been a familiar figure around and about Edmonton's Canadian National Railways station for 20 years.

KNOWN TO THOUSANDS

Thousands of Edmontonians who have travelled in and out of the city during the past two decades know him as the uniformed, portly "Redcap" porter who was a ways ending, used to get the grips and bags from train to waiting taxi.

Thousands of others, regular train travellers, from Halifax to Vancouver, including many of Canada's outstanding men of affairs, also knew Harry.

But on Friday Harry carried his last bag for a railway passenger while on the staff of the CNR. Now past the retirement age of 65, Harry has been pensioned and will no longer be a familiar figure around the depot.

"You have to be a hardy, tough, about getting used to it," Harry said with a sad smile.

Some people don't consider it much of a job, but he knows it is an interesting job and he knows what it means. I am the last one left of a profession in the history of the Canadian National Railways. Mr. Moutray added.

LEARN ABOUT PEOPLE

Learning about people is one of the things that makes this job so interesting. I have met some of the best people in the world. There's always a lot of life in a station at night time.

And though Harry doesn't see it, the station is still a place where people meet. It's a place where people meet and where people meet.

"I never could get quite used to the sad scene of parting. I could hardly stand to see white-haired mothers kissing their handsome sons in uniform goodbye. Because I knew that for many it was a last goodbye. But of late there have been many joyful homcomings and reunions and some even sadder than the departures. That is when sons are carried from the train on stretchers.

And I got to know a lot of people. I got to know a lot of people. I got to know a lot of people.

The fact is, I got to know a lot of people. I got to know a lot of people. I got to know a lot of people.

WONDERFUL THRILL

It was a wonderful thrill. It was a wonderful thrill. It was a wonderful thrill.

Another thing I got to know was the thrill of the job. It was a wonderful thrill. It was a wonderful thrill. It was a wonderful thrill.

He was a great man. He was a great man. He was a great man.

For the next four years he fired out of Winnipeg. At the end of that time he was "written up" as an engineer and between 1905 and 1910 he worked during the double-tracking of the line out of Fort Worth.

HARRY MOUTRAY CARRIES HIS "LAST" GRIPS. Terminating 42 years of service as a railroader, Harry Moutray is shown above performing his last "mission" as a Redcap porter at the CNR station in Edmonton. Moutray retired Friday from service, having attained the retirement age of 65. For more than 20 years of his service period he was in the running tracks but a serious accident forced him to give up his position as engineer. He was hurtling himself seriously in a fall he was in several wrecks and was with a slight limp as the result of being squeezed between an engine and tender during a derailment in Manitoba many years ago.

H. H. BRADBURN

McCull-Fontenac Honors Director

MONTREAL, Jan. 27.—Wednesday evening at the Mount Royal Hotel, McCull-Fontenac Oil Company Limited honored their oldest employees and director, vice-president H. H. Bradburn, who has just completed his 50th year with the company.

The longest continuous service in its history, Mr. Bradburn joined McCull-Fontenac in the early nineties and at the age of twenty started as a salesman. He was moved to Vancouver in 1896 and in 1902 to Winnipeg, where his home has been ever since.

As one of the early pioneers of the oil industry he tells many an interesting story of his experiences in Western Canada which included the use of horse-and-buggy, sleigh or bicycle as methods of transportation.

To Mr. Bradburn goes largely the credit for the splendid volume of sales the company has enjoyed throughout Western Canada. He is the man who not only pioneered it but also directed it during his fifty years of service with the company.

He is a keen outdoors man, enjoys fishing and hunting and has an attractive summer home, "Isle of Pines," at Kenora (Lake of the Woods), where he and Mrs. Bradburn have a beautiful view of the most beautiful and hospitable of hosts. This island home is unique in its appointments having many replicas of the wild and life of Canada, a collection of totem poles, and scores of interesting pieces he has gathered in Japan, India and the Far East.

Colonel A. A. Magee, president of the company, proposed the toast and paid tribute to Mr. Bradburn, reminding him of the happy associations through the years. Mr. Bradburn read many letters of congratulations from friends. In his address of presentation Vice-President C. P. Tomlinson said: "All of the business fabric of McCull-Fontenac Oil Company Limited, this great company that I am pleased and proud to speak for, was created by two men who are in this room this evening. Mr. Bradburn in the East and Mr. Bradburn in the West, and it is Mr. Bradburn who are naming tonight."

To Mr. Bradburn goes the credit for what McCull-Fontenac is, Western Canada. He not only pioneered it but has ably directed it."

SUPERMAN
JERRY SIEGEL AND JOE SHUSTER

WHEN HER TWO SUITORS WENT OVERSEAS, WENDY WORTH PROMISED TO BECOME ENGAGED TO WHICHEVER FIRST WON A MEDAL—AND THAT PROMISE LED TO COMPLICATIONS. TO SOLVE THEM SHE HAD TO CALL UPON SUPERMAN'S SERVICE FOR SERVICEMEN. WE FIND SUPERMAN AT A U.S. Bomber Base IN ENGLAND.

STOP—YOU'RE BREAKING MY HEART!

WENDY FIGURES THE DEAL ISN'T FAIR TO TED, BECAUSE HE'S IN THE INFANTRY, WHERE IT'S MAYBE A LITTLE TOUGHER TO WIN MEDALS THAN IN THE AIR FORCES.

LOOK, SUPERMAN, I COMPLETED THIRTY TOUGH MISSIONS IN A FORTRESS, AND THEY HANDED ME A MEDAL. I EARNED IT, AND I'M PROUD TO HAVE IT. AND THAT GETS ME ENGAGED TO WENDY SO MUCH THE BETTER.

SURE YOU EARNED IT. BUT WHEN YOU TALK ABOUT TOUGH MISSIONS, THINK OF THOSE DOUGHBOYS...

THE WAR'S NO PICNIC FOR THEM—I KNOW THAT!

MONTH AFTER MONTH OF SLOGGING THROUGH RAIN AND MUD, EATING OUT OF A PASTEBOARD BOX, DIVING INTO FOXHOLES WHILE THE ENEMY THROWS EVERYTHING HE HAS AT YOU DAY AND NIGHT—

—BEING A HERO 24 HOURS A DAY, WITHOUT MUCH CHANCE OF BEING THE STANDOUT HERO WHO OCCASIONALLY GETS DECORATED.

BY GOSH, YOU'RE RIGHT. THAT GUY TENDS TO HAVE A MEDAL AS MUCH AS ME! IT SURE WOULDN'T BE FAIR FOR ME TO BE ENGAGED TO WENDY ON THAT BASIS.

BUT WENDY SAID SHE'D BE ENGAGED TO THE GUY WHO WON A MEDAL—AND SHE ISN'T THE SORT OF GAL WHO BREAKS HER WORD.

I KNOW. IT'S A PROBLEM. MAYBE I'D BETTER TAKE A JAUNT OVER TO THE CONTINENT AND PAY TED A VISIT.

SHORTLY AFTER, AT A REST AREA ON THE EUROPEAN CONTINENT...

I'M LOOKING FOR PRIVATE TED ADAMS—

HE'S THAT WORRIED-LOOKIN' GUY OVER THERE—AND GOSH, SUPERMAN, KIN I HAVE YOUR AUTOGRAPH?

SO YOU'RE WENDY? TRAVELING REPRESENTATIVE, EH? WELL, BILL GOT A MEDAL, AND HE GOT ENGAGED TO WENDY—AND THAT'S THAT.

OH, THAT'S MY WOUNDED HAND—THE WOUNDED HAND THAT WON ME THE PURPLE HEART THE GENERAL CAME THROUGH THE HOSPITAL AND AWARDED THE MEDAL TO ALL THE WOUNDED MEN...

YOU AND A MEDAL TOO!!! THEN THAT PUTS YOU AND BILL ON THE SAME FOOTING!

THE SURE... ONLY I FORGOT TO TELL YOU THAT THE GENERAL DIDN'T KNOW, AND I DIDN'T GET A CHANCE TO TELL HIM THAT I GOT MY HAND PEELING POTATOES!

AND IF YOU THINK I'M CRAZY, THAT'S NEITHER HERE NOR THERE. THAT'S CRAZY.

IN HER BED!

THE Lady of Fashion and the Old Soldier with a wooden leg left the Teenie Weenie town hall early while the other little folk were still practicing a new Teenie Weenie song. It was very cold outside and the two hurried to the shoe house as fast as they could. As soon as the Old Soldier unlocked the front door, the Teenie Weenies smelled mouse. "Oh, dear!" exclaimed the Lady of Fashion. "Do you suppose that awful Ginky has been in here?"

As soon as the Old Soldier lighted Teenie Weenie candles, the two peered into the kitchen. The back door was partly open and the doughnut thimble lay on the floor completely empty.

"Ginky has been here, all right," said the Old Soldier. "We'd better go through the house and see what damage he's done."

They found nothing disturbed until the Lady of Fashion stepped into her bedroom. Then she let out a scream which brought the Old Soldier running to the door. There, right in the Lady of Fashion's bed, lay Ginky sound asleep. A bureau drawer was open and the place smelled strongly of perfume.

"That nasty mouse has used all my perfume!" wailed the Lady of Fashion.

"Look!" shouted the Old Soldier, pointing towards the bureau. "He has taken a drink out of your water bottle. The stopper lay on the bureau top and a drop of water was dripping into the open drawer."

The Old Soldier tried to awaken the sleeping mouse. He pounded him, pulled his ears and even stepped on the mouse's tail, but Ginky slept right through it all. Ginky is a very sound sleeper, especially after he has eaten his fill, and lying in the Lady of Fashion's comfortable bed, with soft covers over him, it was impossible to awaken him. The Old Soldier went to the town hall for help and a number of the men dragged Ginky out of the house and put him in the pint fruit jar which the little people had made into a jail.

The Lady of Fashion refused to sleep in her bedroom that night. "Not after that dirty mouse has been there," she said. So she made a bed on the sitting room floor and spent the night there.

Next morning the little lady gave her bedroom a thorough cleaning. She washed every bit of bed clothing, had the mattress carried out and aired, and even scrubbed the walls and ceiling.

Ginky finished his night's sleep in jail, and the scent of the Lady of Fashion's perfume he had doused on still clung to his fur next day.
